Southbound Lane Of Thruway Still Closed to Traffic

Opening of Artery Put Off Until Official Approval of Authority, Krom Announces Today

The Thruway from Saugerties to Kingston will remain closed to southbound traffic until further notice, it was announced this morning by J. S. Bixby, district engineer of the State Department of Public Works.

In a letter to H. G. Krom, Ulster county assistant engineer, Bixby pointed out that the Lake Katrine outlet road between the Thruway and Route 9W should not be opened until authorized by the Thruway Authority which, 'of course, means that traffic on the Thruway should not be allowed to proceed south of the Saugerties outlet, at least for the present."

Bridge May Be Used

A Poughkeepsie spokesman for the State Department of Public Works explained that local northbound traffic would be permitted to continue use of the Lake Katrine outlet road.

The Thruway was closed to south-bound traffic from Saugerties following an automobile accident on the Leggs Mills bridge May 2. The bridge was reopened early Monday afternoon following completion of repairs.

Treasures Are Returned

Okinawa, May 27 (AP)—Thanks to an American sergeant, royal treasures of the former kingdom of the Ryukyus Islands have been returned to the Ryukyuan people, the army announced today. Formal presentation ceremonies, at Okinawa, were held Tuesday in which the royal golden headpiece of the former kingdom, royal jewelry and ancient volumes of Ryukyuan history were handed back to Okinawans. Sgt. 1/C William T. Davis of Lynbrook, Long Island, located the treasures in the United States after a long search and brought them back to Okinawa this week.

Would Get Report

New York, May 27 (AP)—An attorney for the Empire Ordnance Company said today the U. S. Court of Claims has ordered President Eisenhower to produce a secret 10-year-old report of the Securities and Exchange Commission concerning the firm. Bartley Crum, New York attorney, said the court issued the order last Friday. He added he believed it had been served on the President. The company, A World War 2 firm specializing in tank guns, is involved in controversies with the government over renegotiation of war-time contracts and tax refunds.

Condition Is Fair

Albert Van Kleeck of 771 Broadway was reported in fair condition at Benedictine Hospital today after being admitted following a car fire which occurred about 2 a. m. today on the Flatbush road, two miles north of Kingston. Fire Chief Costello of the East Kingston Fire Company said the fire was apparently started in the ignition system under the dashboard of Van Kleeck's auto. According to Chief Costello, the auto, which was a total loss, ran off a small enbankment at the time of the fire.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, May 27 (AP)—The position of the treasury May 25: Net budget receipts, $193,341,-176.93; budget expenditures, $194,-637,576.92; cash balance, $3,961,-325,574.94; customs receipts for month, $40,964,639.96; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $54,948,-156,009.42; budget expenditures fiscal year, $65,147,447,949.77; budget deficit, $10,199,291,940.35; Total debt, $266,007,604,817.29; decrease under previous day, $15,-790,867.68; gold assets $22,561,-414,149.10.

Senate House Reopens Thursday to Public

The Senate House, Clinton avenue, America's oldest public building, will reopen Thursday at 9 a. m. after having been closed since March.

The installation of a central heating system connected with the Senate House Museum necessitated the closing of the building.

Public inspection will be limited to the first floor for the time being.

FBI Holds Three For Bond Thievery

Are Allegedly Members of International Securities Ring

New York, May 27 (AP)—Three men have been arrested by the FBI as alleged members of an international stolen bond ring.

One of them is Benedicto Macri, 40-year-old unemployed garment district truckman who was acquitted in the slaying of William Lurye, a garmen union organizer who was stabbed to death in a telephone booth May 9, 1949.

The others held in the bond case were listed by the FBI as Joseph Puliafico, 41, a barber, of 2914 25th avenue, Astoria, Queens, and Leon Morelli, 50, an automobile salesman, of Darien, Conn.

Leland V. Boardman, FBI chief of New York, said the three men were arrested yesterday as they allegedly were attempting to negotiate sale of a $100,000 bond with another man on a sidewalk at 7th avenue and 58th street, Manhattan. The fourth man was not identified by the FBI.

Charged With Conspiracy

The three arrested were charged with conspiracy to transport the allegedly stolen $100,000 bond in interstate and foreign commerce. At their arraignment before a U. S. commissioner, Macri was ordered held in $50,000 bail and Puliafico in $25,000, both for hearing on June 9. Arraignment of Morelli was postponed indefinitely. Assistant U. S. Attorney Arnold Bauman said Morelli had been taken ill and claimed he had heart trouble.

Macri, requesting reduction of the bail set for him, said: "I gave myself up in that homicide matter and I must have been in jail

Three Are Injured When Car Leaves Trail, Turns Over

Bronx Men Are Taken to Hospital — Driver Reported to Have Fallen Asleep

Three persons were injured at 6:10 a. m. today when a car left Route 28 about two miles north of Kingston, tore up approximately 100 feet of guard rail and turned over.

The three, all residents of the Bronx, were taken to Kingston Hospital suffering from shock and internal injuries, it was reported by Deputy Sheriff Albert Eisele who investigated.

The injured were listed as Edward Rodriguez, 50, of 755 South Boulevard, Juan S. Ojeda, 30, and Sancho Hrena Medina, 30, both of 748 Leggett avenue.

Full extent of their injuries had not been determined this morning, hospital authorities reported.

Kingston Hospital authorities reported at 1:30 p. m. today that the three men were "resting comfortably."

Rodriguez, reported by Eisele to be the driver of the 1947 sedan, which was demolished, was quoted as saying he fell asleep at the wheel.

Was Proceeding East

Eisele said the vehicle was proceeding east toward Kingston when it crossed the highway and went off the road, narrowly missing a parked car, traveled 300 feet over the new filled-in area opposite the Ulster Bituminous Distributors, Inc., turned end over end and came to rest on its wheels.

Paul Hill of Kingston and Walter Gilsinger of Wittenberg took Rodriguez and Medina to the hospital and Eisele drove Ojeda.

Aid Male Fertility

New York, May 27 (AP)—Garlic and onions—in goodly quantity—are two items that can help increase male fertility, an international medical meeting was told yesterday. Dr. Raymond G. Cross of Dublin, Ireland, stressed the influences of diet, clothing and continence of reproductive ability at the second day session of the first World Congress on Fertility and Sterility. Besides the two pungent vegetables, Dr. Cross recommended sterile men dine also on bananas, celery, parsley, honey, cheese, marmite, molasses, treacle and a well-known brand (Guinness) of Irish Stout.

Allied Bombers Hit Stores; Red MIGs Refuse to Battle

Seoul, May 27 (AP)—Scores of allied fighter-bombers pounded Communist communication and supply lines across North Korea without opposition today as badly beaten Red MIG jets refused to fight.

Deadly swept-wing Sabre jets streaked through overcast skies hoping to fatten their bag of 51 MIGs shot down this month. Sabres destroyed 12 Red jets and damaged another without losing a plane in sky battles yesterday, the air force said.

Some MIGs ventured south of the Yalu river dividing Manchuria and Korea today, but none would fight.

Solid overcast covered MIG Alley in northwest Korea between 10,000 and 20,000 feet. Red pilots usually avoid combat in overcast skies.

Only scattered patrol skirmishes were reported along the 155-mile battle front.

Jet fighter-bombers headed north at dawn to hit an important railroad line running from Sinuiju in northwest Korea through the Red capital of Pyongyang and south to the battle front.

Sabre fighter-bombers knocked out one bridge north or Sinanju and another to the south, the air force said. They also strafed track crews repairing roadbed washed out 10 days ago when allied warplanes blasted the Tokchon and Chasan dams.

Eight B-29 Superforts dropped 80 tons of bombs on a Red airfield, a troop and supply area and a small railroad yard near Ongjin in western Korea before dawn.

The Reds sent three to five light planes on a nuisance raid over the Seoul area last night. The slow-moving raiders dropped seven 100-pound bombs, causing some minor damage, the air force said.

Carrier-based navy planes attacked Red supply lines in the Wonsan area on the east coast of Korea Tuesday, the navy said. Returning pilots reported many trucks destroyed.

The big battleship New Jersey steamed from the Yellow Sea around the southern end of Korea into the Sea of Japan Wednesday and bombarded the Wonsan area. The navy said the New Jersey's 16-inch rifles destroyed four coastal batteries and damaged two more.

The big battleship steamed far north along Korea's west coast Monday and shelled Red defenses around Chinnampo, port city for Pyongyang.

Rhee's Aide Holds Plan 'Dishonor'

Britain, India Praise Latest Proposal for Truce — Are Irate on Prisoners

Seoul, May 27 (AP)—Irate South Korean assemblymen today called for withdrawal of the United Nations' latest plan to break the Korean war prisoner deadlock. They called it a "dishonorable and surrendering truce."

An Assembly delegation asked for a meeting with Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief allied truce delegate, to demand that the proposal be scrapped. Harrison said he would try to arrange the meeting tomorrow.

In many capitals of the free world, the UN proposal drew favorable comment. Both Britain and India warmly endorsed it. Indian Prime Minister Nehru said he would be surprised if a cease-fire were delayed much longer. The UN plan reportedly follows closely one sponsored by India which the UN adopted last December.

Blames Britain

After a meeting with South Korean President Syngman Rhee and other top ROK officials, Assembly Vice Chairman Soon Chi Yung implied that pressure from Britain was partly responsible for the proposal which he denounced as a "dishonorable and surrendering truce."

"British troops in Korea should pack and go home," he said.

British Prime Minister Churchill said his government and other United Nations were consulted in preparing the proposal.

The plan was handed to the Reds Monday in a secret session at Panmunjom. The talks were recessed until June 1.

Reliable South Korean officials disclosed general provisions of the plan Tuesday.

Balky Over POWs

The ROK government was reported particularly irate at the UN decision to hand balky North Korean prisoners to a five-nation neutral commission for disposition.

An earlier Allied plan—heatedly rejected by the Communists—would have turned the North Koreans free as civilians immediately after an armistice.

Yoon and other South Korean assemblymen in an interview today said the new plan "ignored the sovereignty of Korea."

They objected to the provision allowing the Reds to make "explanations" to POWs for 90 days in an effort to convince them to return to Red rule.

Would Settle Future

The assemblymen confirmed that the Allied plan provides that a post-armistice conference would attempt to settle the future of prisoners who refuse repatriation after the 90-day period. POWs who continue to balk would be turned over to the UN Assembly. No time limit was set for the political conference, but the Indian plan set it at 30 days.

The five nations are India, Switzerland, Sweden, Poland and Czechoslovakia, the latter two Soviet satellites.

The assemblymen said the Reds would have a majority on the commission because India was "pro-Communist."

In Washington, President Eisenhower said the U. S., with the backing of its Allies, will hold fast to the principles that prisoners will not be forced to return to communism.

Spring Music Concert Attracts Large Crowd

New Paltz, May 27—The Spring Concert May 22 at the high school for the New Paltz Central School District provided one of the most enjoyable evenings of the spring. Everyone who was present unanimously praised the performers. The auditorium was almost completely filled.

The program was directed by Robert Brearey. Mrs. Janet Bracken was director of the Gardiner School, Grades 1-4; Mrs. George Ackert was in charge of the Gardiner Grades 5-8. Mrs. Vira Atkins was in charge of the Tuttletown School and Milton Ottesen directed the Campus School orchestra.

Brearey is the director of the high school music organizations. Ann Hoffman was the accompanist for the high school groups, assisted by Richard Davis.

The program was versatile and well performed by each group.

Senator Taft Thinks U.S. Should Negotiate Truce

Republicans to Ask Eisenhower Help In Fight on Funds

Leaders Ask President Explain Cuts Are to Take Effect in 2-3 Years

Washington, May 27 (AP)—Republican leaders have decided to appeal for new help from President Eisenhower in a battle with congressional Democrats opposing a five-billion-dollar slash in air force fund requests.

Their decision came after Secretary of Defense Wilson reportedly came under critical fire by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and some others at a Senate Republican Policy Committee meeting yesterday.

Mrs. Smith, also a member of the Armed Services and Appropriations Committees, was quoted by colleagues as having contended that Wilson had "brushed off" senators and had not explained satisfactorily how the fund cuts would be applied.

GOP leaders want Eisenhower to explain in layman's language, either at a news conference or in his scheduled television program June 3, that the cuts affect funds to be spent two or three years in the future and not the current aviation budget.

Says He Will Participate

The White House has said Eisenhower will participate in a television "program." There was indication others might appear with him.

This led to speculation that Secretary of Defense Wilson, as well as other cabinet members, might be called on to help in a fireside talk to explain the program in more detail.

Sen. Byrd (D.-Va.), an Armed Services Committee member who helped Eisenhower carry Virginia last November, said he thinks the President ought to spell out just how the appropriation cutback would affect the air force.

Sen. Russell (D.-Ga.), member of the Armed Services and Appropriations Committees, said he thinks the reduction "came out of a desire to cut spending and not out of regard for national security."

Russell, assailing Wilson's statement that he can get more defense for less money, said caustically:

"If Mr. Wilson has found a magic formula by which we can cut our plane building program and still increase our air strength, Congress ought to be told about it."

"If he can perform such feats of legerdemain," Russell said in an interview, "the logical sequence would be to cut the air force requests 10 billion dollars and get twice as much defense."

10 Are Sentenced

Vienna, Austria, May 27 (AP)—A Czechoslovak Communist court has sentenced 10 former independent farmers to long prison terms for taking part in an alleged anti-Communist "terrorist" conspiracy, the Prague newspaper Rude Pravdo reported today. Led by a farmer identified only as Josef Resler, the group allegedly compiled lists of Communist officials in the area of Liberec and Vratno in northern Bohemia and sent them to Radio Free Europe with recommendations for prison sentences "after the overthrow of the Czech government which they expected."

Names Investigator

New York, May 27 (AP)—David Dubinsky, president of the AFL International Ladies Garment Workers Union and a pioneer in the fight to rid organized labor of crime, has appointed an investigator to help prevent intrusion of corrupt elements into the union. Dubinsky announced the pioneering step at the conclusion of the union's triennial convention in Chicago yesterday, after he was elected to a new three-year term as president.

Stores to Remain Open

Kingston's jewelry stores, usually closed Thursday afternoons, will be open all day Thursday, May 28, due to the holiday weekend.

Americans Should Forget UN's Role in Korea, Work With Free Hand

Cincinnati, May 27 (AP)—In a surprise major foreign policy speech, Sen. Taft said the United States "might as well forget the United Nations as far as the Korean war is concerned."

"I think we should do our best now to negotiate this truce," he said, "and if we fail, then let England and our other allies know that we are withdrawing from all further peace negotiations in Korea."

Taft went even further. The Senate majority leader added:

"I believe we might as well abandon any idea of working with the United Nations in the east and reserve to ourselves a completely free hand."

Taft's speech was delivered last night by his son, Robert A. Taft, Jr., at a dinner in the senator's honor held by the local chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. The Ohio Republican still is in a local hospital for a checkup of a pain in his hip.

Will Be Unsatisfactory

Taft said in his strongly worded speech that "even the best truce under present conditions will be extremely unsatisfactory."

He said it would divide Korea along an unnatural line, create an unstable condition likely to bring war again at any moment.

And, said the senator, a prime force on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, it would "release a million Chinese soldiers, who no doubt will promptly be moved down to southern China for use against Chaing Kai-shek or against the French in Indochina."

The Ohio senator stressed that "from the beginning, we should have insisted on a general peace negotiation with China, including a unification of Korea under free Koreans, and a pledge against further expansion in southeast Asia.

Bound to Policy

Taft said he thinks that this country—"in any event"—is bound to the policy of preventing Communist aggression where it occurs and where it is within the means of the United States to stop it.

He followed immediately by say-

McCarthy Will Go On 10-Day Trip For Senate Group

Senator Declines to Say Where He Is Going or What Will Be Investigated

Washington, May 27 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) announced today he is leaving the city—perhaps the country—tomorrow on a 10-day mission for his Senate investigations subcommittee. But he declined to say where he is heading, or what he may investigate.

McCarthy turned over to others the handling of his demands for a government crackdown on friendly nations which continue to trade with Red China.

He predicted the Navy Department will modify its refusal to name publicly the British-owned ships McCarthy contends have been used to transport Chinese Red troops during the Korean war.

"The navy has indicated it may declassify the names of these British owned ships and the firms which own them," McCarthy told reporters.

Has Full Authority

He said Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), as acting chairman of the subcommittee "has full authority" to call a public hearing to take the testimony if the navy agrees.

The subcommittee already has the information, McCarthy added, but is barred from making it public by Pentagon and State Department rulings that public disclosure migh hinder U. S. efforts to curb trade with Communist China.

McCarthy yesterday called before his subcommittee Aaron Copland, Pulitzer prize-winning composer and musician, for two hours of closed door questioning in another line of inquiry.

Copland Gives Statement

After the session, Copland issued a statement saying: "I testified under oath that I never have been and am not now a Communist; and that as a composer and free man I have always been and am now opposed to the limitations put on freedom by the Soviet Union."

He said he had permitted use of his name by some organizations, which he did not identify, "without the knowledge or intention of

Dissatisfaction Is Voiced by Some Members of Congress — Say They Will Fight Alone

Washington, May 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower reaffirmed last night that the United States and its allies in Korea are sticking to the principle that prisoners of war must not be forced to go home.

"Our allies are in full accord," Eisenhower said.

But if there was international unity on that issue, there was a sharp dissent from South Korea on the latest United Nations truce proposals. And at home, dissatisfaction was voiced by some members of Congress with the current course of events.

"Even the best truce under present conditions will be extremely unsatisfactory," said Sen. Taft of Ohio, Republican Senate leader. He suggested that if the present talks fail, "we might as well abandon any idea of working with the United Nations in the East, and reserve to ourselves a completely 'free hand."

Hand Takes Issue

Rep. Hand (R.-N. J.) took issue with the no-forced repatriation principle and urged that the administration stop "splitting hairs" and get a quick truce.

Eisenhower's statement, which the White House said was issued to clear up unspecified misunderstandings, was a firm declaration that the UN will not agree to any plan under which reluctant prisoners will be forced to Communist control.

"Certain principles inherent in the United Nations command position * * * are basic and not subject to change," the President said.

"No prisoners will be repatriated by force. No prisoners will be coerced or intimidated in any way. And there must be a definite limit to the period of their captivity.

"The procedures used in handling the prisoners must reflect these principles."

Ambassador Speaks

South Korea, through Ambassador You Chan Yang, told the State Department late yesterday the latest allied truce proposals are "completely unsatisfactory." Rising anger over the proposals, which have not been officially disclosed, was evident in Seoul.

The objection appeared to be a fear that a truce would leave Korea divided, with the Chinese Reds in North Korea indefinitely.

"We will fight alone if necessary, even if we are exterminated," Ambassador Yang told newsmen after a 70-minute talk with Acting Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith.

Smith, according to informants who may not be named, reassured Yang that the U. S. will press for a unified Korea despite plans for an armistice along the battle line.

Yang said his government "is insisting that a unified Korea be part of the truce picture." He said the UN is making all the concessions while "the Communists have made no concessions at all."

Confidence Expressed

U. S. officials, disturbed by this criticism, expressed confidence that the South Korean objections would not upset current negotiations. They said the idea of a unified Korea would be pressed at a peace conference, set to follow any truce agreement.

Sen. Jenner (R.-Ind.) demanded in the Senate yesterday that Eisenhower issue a statement "that we will not recognize the blood-stained murders of Red China as the legal government of China or admit them to the UN."

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said in an interview he thinks "the Communists want a truce in Korea in order to put us on a spot."

'They want to get us into a

Poulson Wins In Los Angeles

Los Angeles, May 27 (AP)—Congressman Norris Poulson, an Oregon farm boy who came here to try his luck in the big city, has ended the 15-year reign of Mayor Fletcher Bowron.

A staunch advocate of economy in government, the 57-year-old Republican now in his fifth term in the House of Representatives, scored a decisive victory in yesterday's non-partisan election.

He'll assume the $18,000-a-year job as leader of the nation's fourth largest city in July.

Bowron, also a Republican, received 252,721 votes in complete semi-official returns. Poulson received 287,619, or 53.2 per cent of the record total of 540,340 votes for a municipal election. The previous record was 488,961 in

Vinson Uses Single Word To Reject Rosenbergs Again

New York, May 27 (AP)—An application to vacate the death sentences of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted atom spies, was filed in Federal Court today by defense counsel Emanuel H. Bloch.

Bloch contended that the death sentences imposed by Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman in April, 1951, were illegal and that the maximum penalty under the law should have been not more than 20 years in prison.

The attorney asked for a stay of execution pending a decision by the Court of Appeals after arguments on a hearing, scheduled for Monday.

Washington, May 27 (AP)—Julius and Ethel Rosenberg have lost another round in their fight to escape the death sentence given them for atomic espionage.

Chief Justice Vinson spent about an hour studying a petition for a stay of execution and then late yesterday scrawled across its first page the single word: "Denied." He made no comment.

The denial, coming one day after the Supreme Court had refused for the third time to review the trial of the condemned husband and wife, cleared the way for the government to ask U. S. District Judge Irving R. Kaufman in New York to fix the execution date.

It appeared that the only remaining chance of the Rosenbergs, who have steadfastly maintained they are innocent, is to tell all they may know about espionage activities in the U. S.

Keresman Named to Board

Albany, May 27 (AP)—Gov. Dewey yesterday appointed a seven-member board of advisors to the Police Bureau of the State Safety Division. They include John M. Beckmann of Mineola, Nassau county police commissioner; Peter Keresman of Kingston, executive secretary of the State Police Conference, and Mrs. Alexander G. Cummins, former public safety commissioner of Poughkeepsie. Members of the board will receive no salaries, but will be repaid for their expenses.

Allied Bombers Hit Stores; Red MIGs Refuse to Battle

Seoul, May 27 (AP)—Scores of allied fighter-bombers pounded Communist communication and supply lines across North Korea without opposition today as badly beaten Red MIG jets refused to fight.

Deadly swept-wing Sabre jets streaked through overcast skies hoping to fatten their bag of 51 MIGs shot down this month. Sabres destroyed 12 Red jets and damaged another without losing a plane in sky battles yesterday, the air force said.

Some MIGs ventured south of the Yalu river dividing Manchuria and Korea today, but none would fight.

Solid overcast covered MIG Alley in northwest Korea between 10,000 and 20,000 feet. Red pilots usually avoid combat in overcast skies.

Only scattered patrol skirmishes were reported along the 155-mile battle front.

Jet fighter-bombers headed north at dawn to hit an important railroad line running from Sinuiju in northwest Korea through the Red capital of Pyongyang and south to the battle front.

Sabre fighter-bombers knocked out one bridge north or Sinanju and another to the south, the air force said. They also strafed track crews repairing roadbed washed out 10 days ago when allied warplanes blasted the Tokchon and Chasan dams.

Eight B-29 Superforts dropped 80 tons of bombs on a Red airfield, a troop and supply area and a small railroad yard near Ongjin in western Korea before dawn.

The Reds sent three to five light planes on a nuisance raid over the Seoul area last night. The slow-moving raiders dropped seven 100-pound bombs, causing some minor damage, the air force said.

Carrier-based navy planes attacked Red supply lines in the Wonsan area on the east coast of Korea Tuesday, the navy said. Returning pilots reported many trucks destroyed.

The big battleship New Jersey steamed from the Yellow Sea around the southern end of Korea into the Sea of Japan Wednesday and bombarded the Wonsan area. The navy said the New Jersey's 16-inch rifles destroyed four coastal batteries and damaged two more.

The big battleship steamed far north along Korea's west coast Monday and shelled Red defenses around Chinnampo, port city for Pyongyang.

Rhee's Aide Holds Plan 'Dishonor'

Britain, India Praise Latest Proposal for Truce — Are Irate on Prisoners

Seoul, May 27 (AP)—Irate South Korean assemblymen today called for withdrawal of the United Nations' latest plan to break the Korean war prisoner deadlock. They called it a "dishonorable and surrendering truce."

An Assembly delegation asked for a meeting with Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief allied truce delegate, to demand that the proposal be scrapped. Harrison said he would try to arrange the meeting tomorrow.

In many capitals of the free world, the UN proposal drew favorable comment. Both Britain and India warmly endorsed it. Indian Prime Minister Nehru said he would be surprised if a cease-fire were delayed much longer. The UN plan reportedly follows closely one sponsored by India which the UN adopted last December.

Blames Britain

After a meeting with South Korean President Syngman Rhee and other top ROK officials, Assembly Vice Chairman Soon Chi Yung implied that pressure from Britain was partly responsible for the proposal which he denounced as a "dishonorable and surrendering truce."

"British troops in Korea should pack and go home," he said.

British Prime Minister Churchill said his government and other United Nations were consulted in preparing the proposal.

The plan was handed to the Reds Monday in a secret session at Panmunjom. The talks were recessed until June 1.

Reliable South Korean officials disclosed general provisions of the plan Tuesday.

Balky Over POWs

The ROK government was reported particularly irate at the UN decision to hand balky North Korean prisoners to a five-nation neutral commission for disposition.

An earlier Allied plan—heatedly rejected by the Communists—would have turned the North Koreans free as civilians immediately after an armistice.

Yoon and other South Korean assemblymen in an interview today said the new plan "ignored the sovereignty of Korea."

They objected to the provision allowing the Reds to make "explanations" to POWs for 90 days in an effort to convince them to return to Red rule.

Would Settle Future

The assemblymen confirmed that the Allied plan provides that a post-armistice conference would attempt to settle the future of prisoners who refuse repatriation after the 90-day period. POWs who continue to balk would be turned over to the UN Assembly. No time limit was set for the political conference, but the Indian plan set it at 30 days.

The five nations are India, Switzerland, Sweden, Poland and Czechoslovakia, the latter two Soviet satellites.

The assemblymen said the Reds would have a majority on the commission because India was "pro-Communist."

In Washington, President Eisenhower said the U. S., with the backing of its Allies, will hold fast to the principles that prisoners will not be forced to return to communism.

Spring Music Concert Attracts Large Crowd

New Paltz, May 27—The Spring Concert May 22 at the high school for the New Paltz Central School District provided one of the most enjoyable evenings of the spring. Everyone who was present unanimously praised the performers. The auditorium was almost completely filled.

The program was directed by Robert Brearey. Mrs. Janet Bracken was director of the Gardiner School, Grades 1-4; Mrs. George Ackert was in charge of the Gardiner Grades 5-8. Mrs. Vira Atkins was in charge of the Tuttletown School and Milton Ottesen directed the Campus School orchestra.

Brearey is the director of the high school music organizations. Ann Hoffman was the accompanist for the high school groups, assisted by Richard Davis.

The program was versatile and well performed by each group.

Senator Taft Thinks U.S. Should Negotiate Truce

Republicans to Ask Eisenhower Help In Fight on Funds

Leaders Ask President Explain Cuts Are to Take Effect in 2-3 Years

Washington, May 27 (AP)—Republican leaders have decided to appeal for new help from President Eisenhower in a battle with congressional Democrats opposing a five-billion-dollar slash in air force fund requests.

Their decision came after Secretary of Defense Wilson reportedly came under critical fire by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and some others at a Senate Republican Policy Committee meeting yesterday.

Mrs. Smith, also a member of the Armed Services and Appropriations Committees, was quoted by colleagues as having contended that Wilson had "brushed off" senators and had not explained satisfactorily how the fund cuts would be applied.

GOP leaders want Eisenhower to explain in layman's language, either at a news conference or in his scheduled television program June 3, that the cuts affect funds to be spent two or three years in the future and not the current aviation budget.

Says He Will Participate

The White House has said Eisenhower will participate in a television "program." There was indication others might appear with him.

This led to speculation that Secretary of Defense Wilson, as well as other cabinet members, might be called on to help in a fireside talk to explain the program in more detail.

Sen. Byrd (D.-Va.), an Armed Services Committee member who helped Eisenhower carry Virginia last November, said he thinks the President ought to spell out just how the appropriation cutback would affect the air force.

Sen. Russell (D.-Ga.), member of the Armed Services and Appropriations Committees, said he thinks the reduction "came out of a desire to cut spending and not out of regard for national security."

Russell, assailing Wilson's statement that he can get more defense for less money, said caustically:

"If Mr. Wilson has found a magic formula by which we can cut our plane building program and still increase our air strength, Congress ought to be told about it."

"If he can perform such feats of legerdemain," Russell said in an interview, "the logical sequence would be to cut the air force requests 10 billion dollars and get twice as much defense."

10 Are Sentenced

Vienna, Austria, May 27 (AP)—A Czechoslovak Communist court has sentenced 10 former independent farmers to long prison terms for taking part in an alleged anti-Communist "terrorist" conspiracy, the Prague newspaper Rude Pravdo reported today. Led by a farmer identified only as Josef Resler, the group allegedly compiled lists of Communist officials in the area of Liberec and Vratno in northern Bohemia and sent them to Radio Free Europe with recommendations for prison sentences "after the overthrow of the Czech government which they expected."

Names Investigator

New York, May 27 (AP)—David Dubinsky, president of the AFL International Ladies Garment Workers Union and a pioneer in the fight to rid organized labor of crime, has appointed an investigator to help prevent intrusion of corrupt elements into the union. Dubinsky announced the pioneering step at the conclusion of the union's triennial convention in Chicago yesterday, after he was elected to a new three-year term as president.

Stores to Remain Open

Kingston's jewelry stores, usually closed Thursday afternoons, will be open all day Thursday, May 28, due to the holiday weekend.

Americans Should Forget UN's Role in Korea, Work With Free Hand

Cincinnati, May 27 (AP)—In a surprise major foreign policy speech, Sen. Taft said the United States "might as well forget the United Nations as far as the Korean war is concerned."

"I think we should do our best now to negotiate this truce," he said, "and if we fail, then let England and our other allies know that we are withdrawing from all further peace negotiations in Korea."

Taft went even further. The Senate majority leader added:

"I believe we might as well abandon any idea of working with the United Nations in the east and reserve to ourselves a completely free hand."

Taft's speech was delivered last night by his son, Robert A. Taft, Jr., at a dinner in the senator's honor held by the local chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. The Ohio Republican still is in a local hospital for a checkup of a pain in his hip.

Will Be Unsatisfactory

Taft said in his strongly worded speech that "even the best truce under present conditions will be extremely unsatisfactory."

He said it would divide Korea along an unnatural line, create an unstable condition likely to bring war again at any moment.

And, said the senator, a prime force on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, it would "release a million Chinese soldiers, who no doubt will promptly be moved down to southern China for use against Chaing Kai-shek or against the French in Indochina."

The Ohio senator stressed that "from the beginning, we should have insisted on a general peace negotiation with China, including a unification of Korea under free Koreans, and a pledge against further expansion in southeast Asia.

Bound to Policy

Taft said he thinks that this country—"in any event"—is bound to the policy of preventing Communist aggression where it occurs and where it is within the means of the United States to stop it.

He followed immediately by say-

McCarthy Will Go On 10-Day Trip For Senate Group

Senator Declines to Say Where He Is Going or What Will Be Investigated

Washington, May 27 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) announced today he is leaving the city—perhaps the country—tomorrow on a 10-day mission for his Senate investigations subcommittee. But he declined to say where he is heading, or what he may investigate.

McCarthy turned over to others the handling of his demands for a government crackdown on friendly nations which continue to trade with Red China.

He predicted the Navy Department will modify its refusal to name publicly the British-owned ships McCarthy contends have been used to transport Chinese Red troops during the Korean war.

"The navy has indicated it may declassify the names of these British owned ships and the firms which own them," McCarthy told reporters.

Has Full Authority

He said Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), as acting chairman of the subcommittee "has full authority" to call a public hearing to take the testimony if the navy agrees.

The subcommittee already has the information, McCarthy added, but is barred from making it public by Pentagon and State Department rulings that public disclosure migh hinder U. S. efforts to curb trade with Communist China.

McCarthy yesterday called before his subcommittee Aaron Copland, Pulitzer prize-winning composer and musician, for two hours of closed door questioning in another line of inquiry.

Copland Gives Statement

After the session, Copland issued a statement saying: "I testified under oath that I never have been and am not now a Communist; and that as a composer and free man I have always been and am now opposed to the limitations put on freedom by the Soviet Union."

He said he had permitted use of his name by some organizations, which he did not identify, "without the knowledge or intention of

Dissatisfaction Is Voiced by Some Members of Congress — Say They Will Fight Alone

Washington, May 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower reaffirmed last night that the United States and its allies in Korea are sticking to the principle that prisoners of war must not be forced to go home.

"Our allies are in full accord," Eisenhower said.

But if there was international unity on that issue, there was a sharp dissent from South Korea on the latest United Nations truce proposals. And at home, dissatisfaction was voiced by some members of Congress with the current course of events.

"Even the best truce under present conditions will be extremely unsatisfactory," said Sen. Taft of Ohio, Republican Senate leader. He suggested that if the present talks fail, "we might as well abandon any idea of working with the United Nations in the East, and reserve to ourselves a completely free hand."

Hand Takes Issue

Rep. Hand (R.-N. J.) took issue with the no-forced repatriation principle and urged that the administration stop "splitting hairs" and get a quick truce.

Eisenhower's statement, which the White House said was issued to clear up unspecified misunderstandings, was a firm declaration that the UN will not agree to any plan under which reluctant prisoners will be forced to Communist control.

"Certain principles inherent in the United Nations command position * * * are basic and not subject to change," the President said.

"No prisoners will be repatriated by force. No prisoners will be coerced or intimidated in any way. And there must be a definite limit to the period of their captivity.

"The procedures used in handling the prisoners must reflect these principles."

Ambassador Speaks

South Korea, through Ambassador You Chan Yang, told the State Department late yesterday the latest allied truce proposals are "completely unsatisfactory." Rising anger over the proposals, which have not been officially disclosed, was evident in Seoul.

The objection appeared to be a fear that a truce would leave Korea divided, with the Chinese Reds in North Korea indefinitely.

"We will fight alone if necessary, even if we are exterminated," Ambassador Yang told newsmen after a 70-minute talk with Acting Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith.

Smith, according to informants who may not be named, reassured Yang that the U. S. will press for a unified Korea despite plans for an armistice along the battle line.

Yang said his government "is insisting that a unified Korea be part of the truce picture." He said the UN is making all the concessions while "the Communists have made no concessions at all."

Confidence Expressed

U. S. officials, disturbed by this criticism, expressed confidence that the South Korean objections would not upset current negotiations. They said the idea of a unified Korea would be pressed at a peace conference, set to follow any truce agreement.

Sen. Jenner (R.-Ind.) demanded in the senate yesterday that Eisenhower issue a statement "that we will not recognize the blood-stained murders of Red China as the legal government of China or admit them to the UN."

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said in an interview he thinks "the Communists want a truce in Korea in order to put us on a spot."

Poulson Wins In Los Angeles

Los Angeles, May 27 (AP)—Congressman Norris Poulson, an Oregon farm boy who came here to try his luck in the big city, has ended the 15-year reign of Mayor Fletcher Bowron.

A staunch advocate of economy in government, the 57-year-old Republican now in his fifth term in the House of Representatives, scored a decisive victory in yesterday's non-partisan election.

He'll assume the $18,000-a-year job as leader of the nation's fourth largest city in July.

Bowron, also a Republican, received 252,721 votes in complete semi-official returns. Poulson received 287,619, or 53.2 per cent of the record total of 540,340 votes for a municipal election. The previous record was 488,961 in

Vinson Uses Single Word To Reject Rosenbergs Again

New York, May 27 (AP)—An application to vacate the death sentences of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted atom spies, was filed in Federal Court today by defense counsel Emanuel H. Bloch.

Bloch contended that the death sentences imposed by Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman in April, 1951, were illegal and that the maximum penalty under the law should have been not more than 20 years in prison.

The attorney asked for a stay of execution pending a decision by the Court of Appeals after arguments on a hearing, scheduled for Monday.

Washington, May 27 (AP)—Julius and Ethel Rosenberg have lost another round in their fight to escape the death sentence given them for atomic espionage.

Chief Justice Vinson spent about an hour studying a petition for a stay of execution and then late yesterday scrawled across its first page the single word: "Denied." He made no comment.

The denial, coming one day after the Supreme Court had refused for the third time to review the trial of the condemned husband and wife, cleared the way for the government to ask U. S. District Judge Irving R. Kaufman in New York to fix the execution date.

It appeared that the only remaining chance of the Rosenbergs, who have steadfastly maintained they are innocent, is to tell all they may know about espionage activities in the U. S.

President Eisenhower rejected

Keresman Named to Board

Albany, May 27 (AP)—Gov. Dewey yesterday appointed a seven-member board of advisors to the Police Bureau of the State Safety Division. They include John M. Beckmann of Mineola, Nassau county police commissioner; Peter Keresman of Kingston, executive secretary of the State Police Conference, and Mrs. Alexander G. Cummins, former public safety commissioner of Poughkeepsie. Members of the board will receive no salaries, but will be repaid for their expenses.

the Rosenberg's first clemency last February, but counsel for the couple have said another request would be made.

The attorneys could ask any other of the Supreme Court justices for a stay, but the chances of getting one after the chief justice's denial were considered extremely remote.

The petition studied by Vinson repeated allegations that perjured testimony was used at the Rosenberg's trial and contended their death sentences were excessive.

The Supreme Court clerk planned to mail today to the U. S. Circuit Court in New York an official notice of the tribunal's Monday refusal to review the Rosenberg's trial. The Circuit Court will transmit this notice to Judge Kaufman and the government can then move for the fixing of an execution date.

The husband and wife were convicted more than two years ago of conspiracy to transmit atomic secrets to Russia. They are in New York's Sing Sing Prison.

Byrd Plans Fifth Trip to Antarctica

New York, May 27 (AP)—Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd says he will make another expedition, his fifth, to the South Pole as soon as the Korean war ends.

The veteran polar explorer, now 64, says there is an unexplored Antarctica land area which has an "untouched reservoir of natural resources"—coal, oil, uranium and other deposits.

He adds that these sources might be tapped by new techniques, possibly including the use of a hydrogen bomb or other nuclear devices to melt ice and snow.

"As we recklessly squander our natural resources in this country we will come to need these new sources," Byrd says. "It is imperative that they do not fall into the hands of a potential enemy."

Byrd spoke of the expedition yesterday at a gathering at which he accepted appointment as vice president in charge of the Frozen Products Division of Arnold Bakers Inc. of Port Chester.

Expedition Held Up

The retired admiral said the expedition, which will be apart from his duties with the bread firm, is being held up because he does not want to request planes and ships now needed in Korea.

However, he said, he has "reason to believe the war will be over soon." He added that he thinks both Red China and Russia are having a hard time "fighting a war at such long distance" and would like to end it.

"There is a land area in Antarctica as large as the United States which, so far as is known, has never been seen by human eye," Byrd said at a Commodore Hotel luncheon during which he accepted the baking firm appointment.

At an interview following the luncheon, Byrd said some mineral deposits are visible on the icy Antarctica mountain ranges.

Reds Charge U. S. Parachuted Spies; All Are Executed

Moscow, May 27 (AP)—The Soviet Government charged the United States today with parachuting four spies—all apparently of Ukrainian or Russian origin—into the Ukraine a month ago. A communique said the four had been arrested, tried and executed.

The announcement from the Ministry of Internal Affairs said the four admitted at their trial that they jumped into the Ukraine, one of the republics of the Soviet Union, on April 26 from an unmarked four-motored American plane.

It said they confessed they were sent on a diverionist, terrorist and espionage assignments.

The communique said the men claimed the American Intelligence Service had ordered them to settle in Kieve and Odessa and had equipped them with radios for contact with American spy centers in West Germany. It said they were ordered to murder Soviet citizens, if necessary, in order to obtain identification certificates to replace forged papers they carried when they jumped.

The men, executed by a firing squad, were identified as Alexander Vasilievich Lakhno, Alexander Nikolaevich Makov, Sergi Iozisimovich Gorbunov and Dmitri Nikolaevich Remigi.

Comment Is Declined

U. S. Army Headquarters at Heidlelberg, Germany declined to comment on the charges and said any statement would have to come from the Defense Department in Washington.

The Soviet Union made a similar announcement Dec. 18, 1951, saying two American spies with Russian names had been executed after having been dropped by parachute from a plane over Moldavia, formerly a part of Romania. The then secretary of state, Dean Acheson, denounced the charge as a complete fabrication.

Reorganization Plan Faces Senate Test

Washington, May 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower's plan to give the secretary of agriculture reorganization powers faces a test in the Senate late today and most guessing was that it would be okayed.

Some opponents of the reorganization plan said Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) would find it difficult to muster the 49 votes needed to kill the proposal.

Russell has led a fight against the plan on grounds it would give Secretary Benson and all future secretaries unlimited power to shake up half a dozen department agencies, curtail some services at the expense of others and remove congressional checks on existing department programs.

Benson scoffs at that and says if Congress wants him to run the department economically and in a way to serve best the farmers' interests he must be given the added authority contained in the plan.

Today's vote was scheduled on Russell's resolution to kill the plan.

City Treasurer Oscar A. Goodsell announced today that the current installment of city taxes will be payable up to Monday, June 1 because the normal deadline date, May 31, this year is on Sunday.

the April primary.

51 Per Cent Vote

A little over 51 per cent of the city's 1,049,919 registered voters cast ballots, far short of the record of 72 per cent set in 1911.

The 65-year-old mayor waged a heated campaign to retain the job he's held since 1938. He conceded defeat shortly before midnight, wishing Poulson "every success in the opportunity he has to carry forward the traditions of honesty, integrity, and clean government which the people of Los Angeles so richly deserve.

The congressman, who led Bowron by some 32,000 votes in the April primary, said in a victory statement: "In this moment of victory, there is no room for the rancor and bitterness which manifested itself during the latter part of the campaign. I extend my good wishes to Mayor Bowron for his contribution to public life."

when those bonds were stolen." He was advised that application for reduction of bail could be made after he obtained counsel. Boardman said the maximum possible penalty for the offense charged is 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine.

Started Probe in 1951

The FBI started investigation of the case in November, 1951, when $120,000 worth of U. S. Treasury bonds were stolen from a messenger employed by the First Boston Corporation of New York. Boardman recounted these developments in the case since then:

After the investigation extended through several states and to Paris and Havana, three alleged members of the ring were arrested here in December, 1951, and the FBI later recovered $20,000 worth of the bonds in Havana. The three men arrested in 1951 were Jean Aron, 52; Jacques A. Montefiore, 45, and John Dryden Windsor, 51, all of New York. Windsor, a lawyer, resided at 43-31 Ithaca street, Elmhurst, Queens. They were charged with transporting the bonds from New York to Havana.

Montefiore and Aron are free in $10,000 bail each and Windsor in $1,000.

A seventh alleged member of the ring, Louis Ravener, 75, of Brooklyn, a real estate dealer, was arrested in April, 1952, and released in $1,000 bail, Assistant U. S. Attorney Martin Klein said. Ravener "financed" the alleged ring, Klein said.

Albert Spalding Dies in Chicago

ALBERT SPALDING

New York, May 27 (AP)—Albert Spalding, one of the nation's leading violinists and a noted composer and author, died suddenly last night of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 64.

Spalding, a member of the famous Chicago sporting goods family, collapsed at his New York apartment as he was dressing to go out.

The famed violinist retired from the concert stage in 1950, telling a crowd of 11,000 at his farewell program in New York's Lewisohn Stadium that he wanted to devote his full time to teaching, writing and composing.

Wrote 60 Books

At the time of his retirement, he already had written some 60 works for violin, 25 for piano, 30 for voice and four each for chamber music and full orchestra.

He also had authored a novel, "A Fiddle, a Sword and a Lady."

Spalding received his first violin, a $4 half-sized fiddle, as a Christmas gift when he was seven.

The gift was intended to be a joke on Spalding, who had asked for the instrument. But he would not put it down, and eventually started taking lessons.

He made his debut in Paris in 1905, when he was 17. Three years later he made his American debut at Carnegie Hall.

Spalding was active during both world wars. He was a lieutenant in the U. S. Army Air Service in Italy and France in the first conflict and was with the Italian underground in the second conflict.

He is survived by his widow, the former Mary Vanderhof Pyle, and a brother, H. Boardman Spalding.

New Check System For U. S. Workers Is Begun Today

Washington, May 27 (AP)—The new Eisenhower security program for federal employment took effect today for some 2½ million workers in the executive branch of the government.

The new screening system for those who want to work for the federal government replaces the old loyalty program of the Truman administration established in 1947 with primary emphasis upon loyalty.

The new test incorporates loyalty and in addition "reliability, trustworthiness, good conduct and character." These qualities have been summed up by President Eisenhower as "fitness for the job."

It is designed to weed off the payroll all undesirables, including drunks, "blabbermouths," homosexuals, and others with questionable habits.

Indications are that a considerable turnover in personnel is already in progress. As an example, Atty. Gen. Brownell recently estimated he may effect a 40 per cent turnover in the Justice Department's 30,000 employes by next year.

Sheriffs Plan Second Illegal Driving Check

Albany, May 27 (AP) — The New York State Sheriffs' Association will conduct its second annual campaign against illegal drivers next month.

Edward G. Dillon, counsel and executive director of the association, said yesterday road blocks would be set up to check drivers' licenses and registrations and the condition of their vehicles.

The campaign is aimed at getting unlicensed drivers and unregistered and unsafe cars off the roads, Dillon said.

Sheriffs of 25 counties joined the campaign in June, 1952.

Work Progresses On Thruway Route

Work was progressing this week on the Ottaviano contract of the New York State Thruway south of The Onteora Trail (Route 28).

A section of the Thruway route between Route 28 and Hurley avenue (209) is being filled in to build it up to the point where it will overpass Hurley avenue near Beatty's turn, and work continues just west of the city along Route 28 in conjunction with the relocation of a section of the Esopus creek.

Strike Threatens Output

Monterrey, Mexico, May 27 (AP)—A strike by 60,000 foundry workers threatened today to paralyze Mexico's iron and steel production. Company officials blamed Communist agitators for the strike call.

FBI Holds Three

when those bonds were stolen." He was advised that application for reduction of bail could be made after he obtained counsel. Boardman said the maximum possible penalty for the offense charged is 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine.

Started Probe in 1951

The FBI started investigation of the case in November, 1951, when $120,000 worth of U. S. Treasury bonds were stolen from a messenger employed by the First Boston Corporation of New York. Boardman recounted these developments in the case since then:

After the investigation extended through several states and to Paris and Havana, three alleged members of the ring were arrested here in December, 1951, and the FBI later recovered $20,000 worth of the bonds in Havana. The three men arrested in 1951 were Jean Aron, 52; Jacques A. Montefiore, 45, and John Dryden Windsor, 51, all of New York. Windsor, a lawyer, resided at 43-31 Ithaca street, Elmhurst, Queens. They were charged with transporting the bonds from New York to Havana.

Montefiore and Aron are free in $10,000 bail each and Windsor in $1,000.

A seventh alleged member of the ring, Louis Ravener, 75, of Brooklyn, a real estate dealer, was arrested in April, 1952, and released in $1,000 bail, Assistant U. S. Attorney Martin Klein said. Ravener "financed" the alleged ring, Klein said.

Albert Spalding Dies in Chicago

ALBERT SPALDING

New York, May 27 (AP)—Albert Spalding, one of the nation's leading violinists and a noted composer and author, died suddenly last night of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 64.

Spalding, a member of the famous Chicago sporting goods family, collapsed at his New York apartment as he was dressing to go out.

The famed violinist retired from the concert stage in 1950, telling a crowd of 11,000 at his farewell program in New York's Lewisohn Stadium that he wanted to devote his full time to teaching, writing and composing.

Wrote 60 Books

At the time of his retirement, he already had written some 60 works for violin, 25 for piano, 30 for voice and four each for chamber music and full orchestra.

He also had authored a novel, "A Fiddle, a Sword and a Lady."

Spalding received his first violin, a $4 half-sized fiddle, as a Christmas gift when he was seven.

The gift was intended to be a joke on Spalding, who had asked for the instrument. But he would not put it down, and eventually started taking lessons.

He made his debut in Paris in 1905, when he was 17. Three years later he made his American debut at Carnegie Hall.

Spalding was active during both world wars. He was a lieutenant in the U. S. Army Air Service in Italy and France in the first conflict and was with the Italian underground in the second conflict.

He is survived by his widow, the former Mary Vanderhof Pyle, and a brother, H. Boardman Spalding.

Rats and mice plagued the ancient Egyptians and it is believed they developed cats to control them.

New Check System For U. S. Workers Is Begun Today

Washington, May 27 (AP)—The new Eisenhower security program for federal employment took effect today for some 2½ million workers in the executive branch of the government.

The new screening system for those who want to work for the federal government replaces the old loyalty program of the Truman administration established in 1947 with primary emphasis upon loyalty.

The new test incorporates loyalty and in addition "reliability, trustworthiness, good conduct and character." These qualities have been summed up by President Eisenhower as "fitness for the job."

It is designed to weed off the payroll all undesirables, including drunks, "blabbermouths," homosexuals, and others with questionable habits.

Indications are that a considerable turnover in personnel is already in progress. As an example, Atty. Gen. Brownell recently estimated he may effect a 40 per cent turnover in the Justice Department's 30,000 employes by next year.

Sheriffs Plan Second Illegal Driving Check

Albany, May 27 (AP) — The New York State Sheriffs' Association will conduct its second annual campaign against illegal drivers next month.

Edward G. Dillon, counsel and executive director of the association, said yesterday road blocks would be set up to check drivers' licenses and registrations and the condition of their vehicles.

The campaign is aimed at getting unlicensed drivers and unregistered and unsafe cars off the roads, Dillon said.

Sheriffs of 25 counties joined the campaign in June, 1952.

Work Progresses On Thruway Route

Work was progressing this week on the Ottaviano contract of the New York State Thruway south of The Onteora Trail (Route 28).

A section of the Thruway route between Route 28 and Hurley avenue (209) is being filled in to build it up to the point where it will overpass Hurley avenue near Beatty's turn, and work continues just west of the city along Route 28 in conjunction with the relocation of a section of the Esopus creek.

Strike Threatens Output

Monterrey, Mexico, May 27 (AP) —A strike by 60,000 foundry workers threatened today to paralyze Mexico's iron and steel production. Company officials blamed Communist agitators for the strike call.

Two Nuns Are Killed

Rome, May 27 (AP)—The bodies of two nuns were dug today from the ruin of a two-story orphanage dormitory which collapsed after a wind and rainstorm. Another nun and three children were rescued alive but badly injured last night. Thirty-five other orphan girls had left the building for dinner a few minutes before it caved in.

Veteran Vols to Meet On Thursday Evening

The regular meeting of the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held Thursday at 8:30 p. m. at Weiner Hose Company, Central Fire Station, Ray Radel, secretary, announced today.

Plans to bring the Hudson Valley Firemen's Convention to Kingston in 1955 will be discussed.

A full turnout of members is anticipated.

U. S., Allies Stick position where they can say 'let us in the UN and we'll agree to an independent Korea, otherwise we won't," he said.

South Korean sources have said the latest Allied proposal would turn over to the UN General Assembly the fate of war prisoners whose disposition is not settled by a supposedly neutral commission of five nations.

Would Give Toehold

Smith said this would give the Chinese Reds a toehold in the UN, since they probably could appear as "interested parties."

But Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), like Smith a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said this was not necessarily so.

He said the truce offer made by the Allies "adheres quite closely" to the proposals in a resolution by India adopted by the UN. He said he was "delighted" that Britain and India back the revised terms, adding that if the Communists don't accept the proposal "it will show they don't want to end the war."

He referred to endorsements of the new Allied play by Prime Ministers Churchill of Britain and Nehru of India. Churchill said the proposals "are very close to the terms of the Indian Resolution passed by the United Nations in December last."

Slab to Sheet

A slab of steel can be rolled into a finished length of sheet steel in approximately 90 seconds on a modern continuous hot sheet and strip mill.

Senator Taft . . .

ing he has never felt that the United States "should send American soldiers to the continent of Asia...simply because we are so out-numbered in fighting a land war on the continent of Asia it would bring about complete exhaustion even if we were able to win."

It was then he added that this nation should give itself a completely free hand in the East and forget about working with the UN there.

Not Effective Means

"This statement," he conceded, "is going to shock a good many people who still believe in the United Nations. I believe in the United Nations myself, but not as an effective means of preventing aggression."

The senator added, "but no one should be shocked at my suggestion about the United Nations in Korea because in Europe we have practically abandoned it entirely."

He pointed to the North Atlantic Treaty, saying its adoption was without United Nations' leave and without its consultation.

The treaty, he said, "substitutes a military alliance for the United Nations as a means of preventing Soviet aggression."

Skeptical About NATO

Taft said he always has been a "skeptic" on the subject of the military practicability of North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

"I have always felt," the GOP spokesman said, "that we should not attempt to fight Russia on the ground on the continent of Europe any more than we should attempt to fight China on the continent of Asia. I have always felt that the defense must be undertaken by those who occupy western Europe ***."

The senator said he pointed out a long time ago that the United Nations "could not possibly prevent aggression because of the veto power which could be used by any one of the five powers to veto united action against themselves and against any one of their satellites."

Would Amend UN Charter

He said the United States should call a conference for amendment of the UN charter "and work out a plan . . . which would have a reasonable chance of preventing aggression and eliminating the veto power."

Taft's speech brought a reply early today from Clark Eichelberger, director of the American Association for the United States, a private group seeking to promote public support of the UN.

Eichelberger said in New York he thought it was "very unwise for the senator to counsel the United States to abandon working through" the UN in the Far East.

Eichelberger added:

"A unilateral policy in Asia would be considered imperialism. We can only work with Asia through the United Nations. ***

"When Senator Taft says the United Nations can't move against aggression because of the veto, he forgets that the United Nations has shifted its center of gravity from the Security Council to the General Assembly, and the General Assembly can move against aggression without the veto."

In Korea, Eichelberger asserted, the U. S. "had the moral and legal sanction" of the UN "instead of having to fight it alone."

Former Kingstonian Is Promoted

Charles F. Mills, left, formerly of this city, who lives now on Gardner road, Poughkeepsie, is congratulated by Raymond J. Hammer, center, division of the Dairymen's League Co-Operative on his recent promotion to manager of the new Dairylea branch at Mount Vernon. Mills formerly was assistant manager of the Poughkeepsie branch. Thomas J. Sharkey, a foreman, right, who lives on Salt Point turnpike, has been named Mount Vernon plant superintendent. At a recent dinner at Pleasant Valley Claude O. Jaycox, retail sales manager at Poughkeepsie, congratulated the men and presented them with gifts from their fellow employes. Mr. Mills, a veteran of World War 2 in which he served in the U. S. Navy, is married to the former Miss Rita M. Brink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brink, of West O'Reilly street, this city. The Mills have three children and the family expects to move soon to Mount Vernon.

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, May 26—The annual meeting of the Hudler Cemetery Association will be held on the cemetery grounds on Memorial Day at 2 p. m. In case of rain the meeting will be held in the Mt. Tremper Church Hall.

Mrs. Emily Heintz spent last week visiting friends in New York.

The Rev. Cornelius Hayes has asked that the men from Boiceville and Mt. Tremper join with the male parishioners from Phoenicia, Allaben, Shandaken, Chichester and Pine Hill in refurbishing the Catholic Cemetery in Allaben before Memorial Day. Further information may be obtained from Father Hayes or Father Galvin at the rectory in Phoenicia.

The next regular meeting of the Onteora Hose Company, local volunteer fire company, will be held in the former schoolhouse on Monday, June 1, at 8 p. m. President Reginald Every, Sr., and Fire Chief Bernard Brinks urge that all members attend this important meeting.

Mrs. John Callaghan, Mrs. Kenneth Umhey, Mrs. Howard Umhey, the Misses Patricia and Sheila Umhey and Master Kenneth Umhey spent a day at the Catskill Game Farm last week.

Mrs. Jenny Fazio and family of Brooklyn spent the weekend at the Will House, their home on the Wittenberg road.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Withers of New York are spending some time at their residence here.

Why We Say--

. . . Didn't go off

Something that starts very well but ends poorly, might be referred to as a "flash in the pan". The expression alludes to the flintlock musket of the 17th century. In these muskets flint sparks ignited the powder. In many cases the powder just burned, merely giving off a flash.

St. Remy

St. Remy, May 27—Memorial Day services will be held Sunday, May 31. A parade will start at 10:30 a. m. from the old firehouse to the Honor Roll tablet following church services at the St. Remy Church conducted by the Rev. Joseph Carlin.

St. Remy firemen will sponsor a card party at the fire hall June 3 starting at 8 p. m. The public is invited.

The St. Remy School will hold its annual entertainment Friday night, May 29, at the school house.

There are still many unlicensed dogs in the Town of Esopus, it is reported. Owners are requested to secure licenses for the animals without delay.

The communities of Rifton and St. Remy will jointly sponsor a dance for the benefit of the Cerebral Palsy fund Friday, May 29, from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m. at the Rifton Firehouse. Modern and old-fashioned dancing will be held. The committee in charge includes Ed Eckert of Rifton and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jordan of St. Remy.

The Rev. and Mrs. Richard Coons of Shokan were Monday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Van Vliet.

Mrs. Robert Hoffman spent Friday with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Heroy in New Paltz.

Action Is Asked

Washington, May 27 (AP)—A segment of the trucking industry asked the Interstate Commerce Commission today to take a hand in the turbulent New York-New Jersey waterfront situation. The petition, filed by the Empire State Highway Transportation Association, charged that racketeering in the handling of freight across the piers is impeding interstate commerce. The association contended that the ICC has specific authority to step in with corrective measures.

Called 'Too Fantastic'

Washington, May 27 (AP)—The State Department brushed aside today as "too fantastic to deserve comment" Russia's charge that the United States parachuted four spies into the Ukraine. Moscow said four had been tried and executed.

Higher in One

John Paul Jones never held a higher rank than that of captain in the United States Navy, but he was a vice admiral in the Russian Navy.

Palsy Fund Aided By Sunday School

Oscar J. Lawatsch, treasurer of the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy drive, today announced the receipt of a check from Mrs. Frank Shaw as the result of the special offering taken at the Ponckhockie Congregational Sunday school and church on Sunday.

"Donations like this help make possible the continuation and expansion of the service at our local clinic at 400 Broadway," Lawatsch said today.

The CP treasurer added "the public is cordially invited to visit the Center and see the type of treatments that are given these children."

Contributions for the palsy drive may still be sent to Lawatsch in care of the State of New York National Bank, Kingston.

To Hold Conference

Washington, May 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower will hold a news conference at 9:30 a. m., E.S.T., tomorrow.

Friends may call at the funeral home at any time after 3 p. m. Wednesday.

Albert Salzmann

The funeral of Albert Salzmann of Lucas avenue extension who died in Kingston Monday after an illness of a few months, will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. from the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street. Cremation will take place in Troy Friday. Mr. Salzmann and his brother, Adam, formerly operated Salzmann's Bakery on Abeel street for a number of years. The bakery had been in operation for more than 100 years, having been founded by their parents. The business was closed in 1947 at which time the brothers retired. Mr. Salzmann was a member of the board of Kingston Hospital for a number of years, was a charter member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church of which he was an active member and served as president of the Church Council for 15 years. He also was a member of the Men's Club of that church. He was a veteran of World War 1 and a member of the 51st Pioneers. Fraternally, he was a member of Charles DeWitt Council, 91, JOUAM; Kingston Lodge, 343, F & AM; Mt. Horeb Chapter, 75, Knights Templar, Albany Sovereign Consistory and Cyprus Temple of Albany. Surviving are his wife, Electa Ruckert Salzmann; a daughter, Electa, at home; a brother, Adam J., a niece, Elizabeth, and two nephews, Albert and Louis, who are the operators of the present Salzmann Bakery in this city.

YMCA News

Saturday evening there will be dancing at DeWitt Lake with music furnished by Jim Goines and his Royal Aces. Free picnic grounds and tables will be available.

Next month the YMCA Day Camp, under the direction of Lou Schafer, will begin at DeWitt Lake.

Last Saturday afternoon, two trucks from the Smith-Parish Roofing Company transported junior high school students from the Kingston YMCA to DeWitt Lake. The party was sponsored by the Friday Niters committee which is also planning a dance this Friday evening at the YMCA.

Last Friday afternoon Kingston High School students visited DeWitt Lake following their May Day celebration.

Former Kingstonian Is Promoted

Charles F. Mills, left, formerly of this city, who lives now on Gardner road, Poughkeepsie, is congratulated by Raymond J. Hammer, center, division of the Dairymen's League Co-Operative, on his recent promotion to manager of the new Dairylea branch at Mount Vernon. Mills formerly was assistant manager of the Poughkeepsie branch. Thomas J. Sharkey, a foreman, right, who lives on Salt Point turnpike, has been named Mount Vernon plant superintendent. At a recent dinner at Pleasant Valley Claude O. Jaycox, retail sales manager at Poughkeepsie, congratulated the men and presented them with gifts from their fellow employes. Mr. Mills, a veteran of World War 2 in which he served in the U. S. Navy, is married to the former Miss Rita M. Brink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brink, of West O'Reilly street, this city. The Mills have three children and the family expects to move soon to Mount Vernon.

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, May 26—The annual meeting of the Hudler Cemetery Association will be held on the cemetery grounds on Memorial Day at 2 p. m. In case of rain the meeting will be held in the Mt. Tremper Church Hall.

Mrs. Emily Heintz spent last week visiting friends in New York.

The Rev. Cornelius Hayes has asked that the men from Boiceville and Mt. Tremper join with the male parishioners from Phoenicia, Allaben, Shandaken, Chichester and Pine Hill in refurbishing the Catholic Cemetery in Allaben before Memorial Day. Further information may be obtained from Father Hayes or Father Galvin at the rectory in Phoenicia.

The next regular meeting of the Onteora Hose Company, local volunteer fire company, will be held in the former schoolhouse on Monday, June 1, at 8 p. m. President Reginald Every, Sr., and Fire Chief Bernard Brinks urge that all members attend this important meeting.

Mrs. John Callaghan, Mrs. Kenneth Umhey, Mrs. Howard Umhey, the Misses Patricia and Sheila Umhey and Master Kenneth Umhey spent a day at the Catskill Game Farm last week.

Mrs. Jenny Fazio and family of Brooklyn spent the weekend at the Will House, their home on the Wittenberg road.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Withers of New York are spending some time at their residence here.

Ulky Ule Say--

. . . Didn't go off

Something that starts very well but ends poorly, might be referred to as a "flash in the pan". The expression alludes to the flintlock musket of the 17th century. In these muskets flint sparks ignited the powder. In many cases the powder just burned, merely giving off a flash.

St. Remy

St. Remy, May 27—Memorial Day services will be held Sunday, May 31. A parade will start at 10:30 a. m. from the old firehouse to the Honor Roll tablet following church services at the St. Remy Church conducted by the Rev. Joseph Carlin.

St. Remy firemen will sponsor a card party at the fire hall June 3 starting at 8 p. m. The public is invited.

The St. Remy School will hold its annual entertainment Friday night, May 29, at the school house.

There are still many unlicensed dogs in the Town of Esopus, it is reported. Owners are requested to secure licenses for the animals without delay.

The communities of Rifton and St. Remy will jointly sponsor a dance for the benefit of the Cerebral Palsy fund Friday, May 29, from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m. at the Rifton Firehouse. Modern and old-fashioned dancing will be held. The committee in charge includes Ed Eckert of Rifton and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jordan of St. Remy.

The Rev. and Mrs. Richard Coons of Shokan were Monday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Van Vliet.

Mrs. Robert Hoffman spent Friday with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Heroy in New Paltz.

Action Is Asked

Washington, May 27 (AP)—A segment of the trucking industry asked the Interstate Commerce Commission today to take a hand in the turbulent New York-New Jersey waterfront situation. The petition, filed by the Empire State Highway Transportation Association, charged that racketeering in the handling of freight across the piers is impeding interstate commerce. The association contended that the ICC has specific authority to step in with corrective measures.

Called 'Too Fantastic'

Washington, May 27 (AP)—The State Department brushed aside today as "too fantastic to deserve comment" Russia's charge that the United States parachuted four spies into the Ukraine. Moscow said four had been tried and executed.

Higher in One

John Paul Jones never held a higher rank than that of captain in the United States Navy, but he was a vice admiral in the Russian Navy.

Palsy Fund Aided By Sunday School

Oscar J. Lawatsch, treasurer of the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy drive, today announced the receipt of a check from Mrs. Frank Shaw as the result of the special offering taken at the Ponckhockie Congregational Sunday school and church on Sunday.

"Donations like this help make possible the continuation and expansion of the service at our local clinic at 400 Broadway," Lawatsch said today.

The CP treasurer added "the public is cordially invited to visit the Center and see the type of treatments that are given these children."

Contributions for the palsy drive may still be sent to Lawatsch in care of the State of New York National Bank, Kingston.

To Hold Conference

Washington, May 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower will hold a news conference at 9:30 a. m., E.S.T., tomorrow.

East tried to steal today's hand by making his jump overcall of three diamonds, but South refused to be shut out. The South hand wasn't strong enough for a bid of three spades, but South was the kind of player who reacts violently to an opponent's shutout bid.

It is impossible to blame West for his penalty double of three spades even though his side could make four diamonds and did not succeed in beating three spades. Apparently West had two sure trump tricks, a fairly sure club trick, and whatever his partner could provide in diamonds.

West began by leading his singleton diamond, and East continued the suit. West discarded the jack of clubs on his partner's second diamond trick, and East obediently shifted to clubs at the third trick.

South hopefully put up the queen of clubs, but West covered with the king, and dummy had to win with the ace. Declarer got to his hand by means of the king of hearts and returned a trump toward dummy. West could not afford to put up the ace of spades, since then he would get only one trump trick. West therefore played low, and dummy won with the queen of spades.

It was now safe for declarer to cash the ace and queen of hearts, on the second of which he could throw a losing club. He continued by ruffing a low heart, and then led his last diamond towards dummy.

Once more West was put in the same embarrassing position. If he ruffed with the jack of spades, dummy would promptly discard the low club, and West's club trick would vanish. When West discarded instead of ruffing, dummy ruffed and led the last heart.

This gave South a chance to discard his last club. Having disposed of the club loser, declarer could cheerfully give up two trump tricks and still make his contract.

Dairy Month Proclaimed

Albany, May 27 (AP)—Calling milk "nature's most complete food," Gov. Dewey today proclaimed June dairy month in New York state.

Dual Recipes

So rare were stoves at one time that, even as late as 1865 recipe books gave two sets of instructions—one for "rich stove owners" and another for cooking at open hearths.

East tried to steal today's hand by making his jump overcall of three diamonds, but South refused to be shut out. The South hand wasn't strong enough for a bid of three spades, but South was the kind of player who reacts violently to an opponent's shutout bid.

It is impossible to blame West for his penalty double of three spades even though his side could make four diamonds and did not succeed in beating three spades. Apparently West had two sure trump tricks, a fairly sure club trick, and whatever his partner could provide in diamonds.

West began by leading his singleton diamond, and East continued the suit. West discarded the jack of clubs on his partner's second diamond trick, and East obediently shifted to clubs at the third trick.

South hopefully put up the queen of clubs, but West covered with the king, and dummy had to win with the ace. Declarer got to his hand by means of the king of hearts and returned a trump toward dummy. West could not afford to put up the ace of spades, since then he would get only one trump trick. West therefore played low, and dummy won with the queen of spades.

It was now safe for declarer to cash the ace and queen of hearts, on the second of which he could throw a losing club. He continued by ruffing a low heart, and then led his last diamond towards dummy.

Once more West was put in the same embarrassing position. If he ruffed with the jack of spades, dummy would promptly discard the low club, and West's club trick would vanish. When West discarded instead of ruffing, dummy ruffed and led the last heart.

This gave South a chance to discard his last club. Having disposed of the club loser, declarer could cheerfully give up two trump tricks and still make his contract.

Dairy Month Proclaimed

Dual Recipes

So rare were stoves at one time that, even as late as 1865 recipe books gave two sets of instructions—one for "rich stove owners" and another for cooking at open hearths.

Little Gardens Club Given Advice on Care Of African Violets

The Little Gardens Club met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John H. Saxe in West Hurley. A paper on African Violets was presented by Mrs. G. A. Nussbaum.

"The African violet has come into prominence during the past 20 years, and is now found in most every home," said Mrs. Nussbaum. She told the members that the plant sometimes needs a rest period of about four months. During such period, plants should be watered by keeping the pots in a shallow saucer Unless "pot-bound," the plant should not be disturbed.

The speaker also said that African violets should be kept out of direct sunlight and do not do well when put out-of-doors in the summer. Violets are susceptible to temperatures under 65 degrees and do not like drafts. The type of soil in which they are potted, is also important said Mrs. Nussbaum.

Miss Ruth Waterbury has just returned to her home in Hurley after a four-months' motor trip to the West Coast, during which she covered over nine thousand miles in the southern states and visited with relatives and friends. Describing the highlights of her tour, Miss Waterbury related many experiences.

Following the meeting and program, Mrs. Saxe served tea.

NYS Sons, Daughters Of Liberty Convene At Governor Clinton

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk welcomed 120 delegates Tuesday morning at the Governor Clinton Hotel, for the opening of the two-day 59th annual convention sponsored by the New York State Sons and Daughters of Liberty.

The invocation was given by the Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor, Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, who also addressed the group on Christian Teaching.

This marks the third convention in six years held at the Governor Clinton. In an interview on the opening day, Miss Louise Van Pelt, state secretary, told a Freeman reporter, "our organization has frequently convened in Kingston because we like this city so much."

The Sons and Daughters of Liberty in Ulster County is represented in Ulster county by Esopus Council 42 with headquarters in Port Ewen. Miss Mary Bishop is secretary.

State officials attending the convention are Miss Caroline Steinmetz of New York city, state councilor; Mrs. Carrie Abrams, Inwood, state associate councilor; Mrs. Gladys Motel, Baldwin, state vice-councilor; Mrs. Grace Landau, Brooklyn, state associate vice-councilor; Mrs. Katherine Hirt, Queens, state guide; Mrs. Frances Meinhold, junior ex-state councilor Brooklyn; Miss Van Pelt of Brooklyn; Mrs. Marie Stadtlander Queens, state treasurer; Mrs. Florence Singer, New York city, state inside guard; and Mrs. Marie Hammond, Hempstead, state outside guard.

The convention will stress the adoption of legislation for the welfare of the order, to include among other things the promotion of American principles, and a Bible in every public school, said Miss Van Pelt.

The delegates, representing a state membership of 4,000, arrived in the city Monday afternoon and are guests at the Governor Clinton, Stuyvesant and Kirkland Hotels. They attended a banquet Tuesday evening in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel, when a program of entertainment was presented by the members.

Onteora Central School Holds First Junior Prom

Cinderella Theme Used for Onteora Prom Decorations

The gymnasium of the Onteora Central School resembled a page from the well known fable, Cinderella, on the occasion of the school's first Junior Prom held Friday evening. Miss Betsey May and Miss Lucille Marro supervised the decorating.

Cinderella and her Prince Charming were elected by popular vote during the intermission. Chosen were Miss Joan Warnes and Les Foster. They were crowned by class advisors, Andrew Shekitka and Miss Maureen Davis.

Members of the court, carrying lovely bouquets of roses, were the Misses Ingrid Allermann, maid-of-honor; Mary Osborne, Doris Juliano, Pat McNamara, and Rose Marie Colosimo.

As a climax to the evening's festivities, Cinderella and her Prince were presented with the first rings of the class of '54.

The guests entered the palace courtyard through the castle entrance, guarded by two cardboard sentries, and danced under the stars to the music of The Candlelight Trio, while gliding past the columns surrounding the tables in the garden, and the Cinderella slipper waiting to be worn by the Queen.

The dance committee, all Juniors, consisted of Mary Osborne, chairman, Ingrid Allermann, William Frankle, Aledra Good, Eugene Whiting and the class officers, president, Joan Warnes; vice-president, Rose Marie Colosimo; secretary, Joan Van de Bogart; and treasurer, Les Foster.

The chaperones were: Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Shekitka, Miss Maureen Davis and Nelson Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Mones, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Witko.

Play School Group Set at Kerhonkson

The formation of a children's pre-school play group was announced by Mrs. William Davis and Mrs. Samuel Fisher, co-chairmen of the Pre-School Play Group Committee of Kerhonkson.

The group was organized by young mothers of Kerhonkson and plans have been formulated to organize the group to begin activity at the end of June.

Mrs. Davis announced the plan of the committee is to provide supervised activities for children from ages 3 to 5. Children of 2 to 3 years of age who are self-sufficient will be considered eligible to join. The present plans of the committee include a program on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 9 a. m. to 12 noon under the supervision of a trained teacher. Arrangements have been made for the class to be conducted at the kindergarten classroom of the Federated Church in Kerhonkson with full use of the playground facilities. Milk and cookies will be served at mid-morning.

Registration of children planning to attend will be held on June 1 from 3 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m., in the cafeteria at the Federated Church. The charge per child will be on a weekly basis and the amount will be announced by the committee well in advance of the play school opening. Mrs. Fisher announced that in view of the large number of children expected to attend, parents register their children early.

The committee announced that a drive was being commenced for necessary equipment such as tables, chairs and toys, and that all persons wishing to contribute any of these items, contact Mrs. Fisher at Kerhonkson 5043 or Mrs. Philip Korn at Karhonkson 3831.

WHEN A FRIEND IS THE WAITER

The very unusual question of whether to tip a friend is the subject of this letter: "The other evening my boy friend and I went to a new restaurant in town to dine. We were both very much surprised when a mutual friend stood before us to take our order. We had not seen him for some time and had no idea he was working as a waiter. I told my boy friend that I did not think he should leave a tip as it might hurt and embarrass him to be tipped by a friend. However, he left a tip anyway, insisting that it was the right thing to do. Will you please give your opinion of this?"

Your boy friend was right. After all, your mutual friend is a waiter and a very important part of his earnings comes from tips.

When Bride Is Not Young

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine who has just turned forty is planning to be married the latter part of the summer. She has never been married before and would like to wear a simple white wedding dress and veil. She has been told that a white wedding dress is not correct for a bride who is over thirty-five. Will you please give your opinion?

Answer: Since it is her first marriage, it is certainly her privilege to wear a white wedding dress with orange blossoms and veil. In other words, it is not a question of age, but of being a first-time bride. Her dress, to be becoming, should be cream rather than chalk white because it is more becoming to an older skin. Also a lace veil would be more flattering to her, than one of tulle.

Chairman or President?

Dear Mrs. Post: I would greatly appreciate it if you could give me information concerning the following: At a college dance, who is supposed to lead the Grand March—the president of the class or the chairman of the dance committee?

Answer: The president. The chairman's concern is to direct the march and see that all goes smoothly.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, 'Children Are People,' etc.)

WHEN A FRIEND IS THE WAITER

The very unusual question of whether to tip a friend is the subject of this letter: "The other evening my boy friend and I went to a new restaurant in town to dine. We were both very much surprised when a mutual friend stood before us to take our order. We had not seen him for some time and had no idea he was working as a waiter. I told my boy friend that I did not think he should leave a tip as it might hurt and embarrass him to be tipped by a friend. However, he left a tip anyway, insisting that it was the right thing to do. Will you please give your opinion of this?"

Your boy friend was right. After all, your mutual friend is a waiter and a very important part of his earnings comes from tips.

When Bride Is Not Young

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine who has just turned forty is planning to be married the latter part of the summer. She has never been married before and would like to wear a simple white wedding dress and veil. She has been told that a white wedding dress is not correct for a bride who is over thirty-five. Will you please give your opinion?

Answer: Since it is her first marriage, it is certainly her privilege to wear a white wedding dress with orange blossoms and veil. In other words, it is not a question of age, but of being a first-time bride. Her dress, to be becoming, should be cream rather than chalk white because it is more becoming to an older skin. Also a lace veil would be more flattering to her, than one of tulle.

Chairman or President?

Dear Mrs. Post: I would greatly appreciate it if you could give me information concerning the following: At a college dance, who is supposed to lead the Grand March—the president of the class or the chairman of the dance committee?

Answer: The president. The chairman's concern is to direct the march and see that all goes smoothly.

Guild Honors Mothers At Annual Dinner of Methodist Church

On Tuesday, May 19th, the members of the Wesleyan Service Guild of Trinity Methodist Church entertained their mothers and friends at the annual Mother-Daughter dinner. The dinner was held in the church school rooms and was presided over by Mrs. Richard Lowe, president of the Guild.

At the conclusion of the dinner, Mrs. Lowe welcomed the guests and thanked the committees who had prepared for the dinner and the program following. She then introduced Miss Ethel Mauterstock who had charge of devotions. Miss Mauterstock paid tribute to famous mothers of the Bible and to Mothers in general, and mentioned the fact that poets and song writers often used the theme of Mother for their writings. Mrs. Herbert Killinder had charge of the program for the evening, and presented Mrs. Henry Terpening who sang the soprano solo, I Shall Not Pass Again This Way, by Effinger. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Ethel Mauterstock.

Mrs. Killinder then introduced Mrs. George Davies, wife of the district superintendent of the Kingston district of the Methodist Conference, who gave an address on Adventures in Friendship. Mrs. Davies stressed the fact that we find what we are looking for as we go through life, and urged the group to make the most of all opportunities.

At the conclusion of the address, the Reverend Herbert Killinder showed a color film of Florida's famous, Fountain of Youth.

Members of the Wesleyan Service Guild in attendance were the Mmes. Richard Lowe, Henry Terpening, Frank Palen, Herman Bigler, Vincent Carr, Charles Shutts, Gwynne Thomas, Herbert Killinder, Howard Bodie and Ralph Jones and the Misses Adiska Conro, Ruth Tongue, Ethel Mauterstock, L. May Quimby, Anna D. Quimby, Frieda Remus, Eileen Rider.

The guests included the Mmes. Chris Spalt, William Smith, E. A. D. Potter, Martha Neal, Scott Conro, Egbert Schoonmaker, Alfred W. Tongue, Marion Clark, Anna Smith, Caldwell, Geisel, Williams, and George Davies, and the Misses Minnie Osterhoudt, Carolyn Arnold, Irene Goodsell, and Miss Geisel.

The committee in charge of the dinner was Mrs. Frank Palen, Mrs. Henry T. Terpening and Miss Eileen Rider.

A MESSAGE...

To our many very good friends, our customers, who have made our wayside store the most rapidly expanding furniture business in Ulster County; my wife and I tender our heartfelt thanks. We certainly deeply appreciate the help you have all given us and realize many of you have gone out of your way to "give us a boost." We know that without your generous aid, our business couldn't have grown to what it is today—within such a short period of time,—unless you folks had been helping us by telling your friends of the better values you have received here, thus encouraging others to look over our well stocked showrooms. All we need is the opportunity to show prospective buyers the quality and lower prices on our fine lines and the furniture sells itself.

Your recommendation of our service, prices, and quality have brought buyers here from over 60 miles away, even from the big city areas such as Albany and Troy, and they too have found our values can't be equalled in stores in the cities where their overhead compels them to charge you higher prices. Why should you or any of your friends pay an extra 20% or 30% on your furniture needs — just because stores in the higher rent districts have to tack these extra percentages on to cover their operating costs.

Drive up yourself and see what we have to offer you — many of the best-known nationally advertised lines in the country. We are not just advertising lower prices, we guarantee them.

Your money back and a free gift within 10 days from your purchasing date, if you find you can equal our prices and quality anywhere in Ulster County.

Your investment in a little time and a gallon of gasoline will really pay off—when you can save an average of $20 on a chair, $100 on a bedroom suite, and from $45 to $85 on a living room suite. Use your own good judgment, look in the high pressure, high overhead stores in town — then before you buy, drive up here and compare values. We feel quite sure you'll then buy at Butler's. We appreciate your business and thank you for all the help you have given us.

Guild Honors Mothers At Annual Dinner of Methodist Church

On Tuesday, May 19th, the members of the Wesleyan Service Guild of Trinity Methodist Church entertained their mothers and friends at the annual Mother-Daughter dinner. The dinner was held in the church school rooms and was presided over by Mrs. Richard Lowe, president of the Guild.

At the conclusion of the dinner, Mrs. Lowe welcomed the guests and thanked the committees who had prepared for the dinner and the program following. She then introduced Miss Ethel Mauterstock who had charge of devotions. Miss Mauterstock paid tribute to famous mothers of the Bible and to Mothers in general, and mentioned the fact that poets and song writers often used the theme of Mother for their writings. Mrs. Herbert Killinder had charge of the program for the evening, and presented Mrs. Henry Terpening who sang the soprano solo, I Shall Not Pass Again This Way, by Effinger. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Ethel Mauterstock.

Mrs. Killinder then introduced Mrs. George Davies, wife of the district superintendent of the Kingston district of the Methodist Conference, who gave an address on Adventures in Friendship. Mrs. Davies stressed the fact that we find what we are looking for as we go through life, and urged the group to make the most of all opportunities.

At the conclusion of the address, the Reverend Herbert Killinder showed a color film of Florida's famous Fountain of Youth.

The guests included the Mmes. Chris Spalt, William Smith, E. A. D. Potter, Martha Neal, Scott Conro, Egbert Schoonmaker, Alfred W. Tongue, Marion Clark, Anna Smith, Caldwell, Geisel, Williams, and George Davies, and the Misses Minnie Osterhoudt, Carolyn Arnold, Irene Goodsell, and Miss Geisel.

The committee in charge of the dinner was Mrs. Frank Palen, Mrs. Henry T. Terpening and Miss Eileen Rider.

A MESSAGE...

To our many very good friends, our customers, who have made our wayside store the most rapidly expanding furniture business in Ulster County; my wife and I tender our heartfelt thanks. We certainly deeply appreciate the help you have all given us and realize many of you have gone out of your way to "give us a boost." We know that without your generous aid, our business couldn't have grown to what it is today—within such a short period of time,—unless you folks had been helping us by telling your friends of the better values you have received here, thus encouraging others to look over our well stocked showrooms. All we need is the opportunity to show prospective buyers the quality and lower prices on our fine lines and the furniture sells itself.

Your recommendation of our service, prices, and quality have brought buyers here from over 60 miles away, even from the big city areas such as Albany and Troy, and they too have found our values can't be equalled in stores in the cities where their overhead compels them to charge you higher prices. Why should you or any of your friends pay an extra 20% or 30% on your furniture needs — just because stores in the higher rent districts have to tack these extra percentages on to cover their operating costs.

Drive up yourself and see what we have to offer you — many of the best-known nationally advertised lines in the country. We are not just advertising lower prices, we guarantee them.

Your money back and a free gift within 10 days from your purchasing date, if you find you can equal our prices and quality anywhere in Ulster County.

Your investment in a little time and a gallon of gasoline will really pay off—when you can save an average of $20 on a chair, $100 on a bedroom suite, and from $45 to $85 on a living room suite. Use your own good judgment, look in the high pressure, high overhead stores in town — then before you buy, drive up here and compare values. We feel quite sure you'll then buy at Butler's. We appreciate your business and thank you for all the help you have given us.

Knights Honor Former Faithful Navigators At Recent Ceremony

On Monday evening in the K of C Home, the Fourth Degree Assembly Knights of Columbus 275, held its regular meeting followed by a banquet. After calling the meeting to order, Faithful Navigator Kenneth T. Clark turned the gavel over to past Master Patrick T. Murphy, who after thanking the assembly for the honor, turned the gavel over to the Senior Former Faithful Navigator Joseph F. Sullivan, and he conducted the remainder of the meeting.

Former Navigator Sullivan also called upon the remainder of the Former Faithful Navigators present to occupy an office during the meeting. It was a most impressive affair and sitting on the dias were the Rev. James A. Dunnigan, Assembly chaplain, and the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, who was the principal speaker at the banquet following the meeting. A spaghetti and meat ball dinner was served by Anthony Saccoman, proprietor of Tony's Pizzeria.

Joseph F. Saccoman, chairman and the dinner committee were given a rousing vote of thanks for their efforts in making the dinner the success that it was. Faithful Navigator Kenneth Clark greeted the Sir Knights present and congratulated the Former Faithful Navigators for the record they have made in the Assembly during the past 53 years. Raymond J. Mino was master of ceremonies and introduced Father Farrelly who gave a very timely and interesting talk and who was given a tremendous ovation by the assembly.

Chairman Joe Saccoman made the presentations giving the Former Faithful Navigators each a Former Faithful Navigators Pin. Toastmaster Mino presented the Rev. John D. Simmons, who is celebrating his 25th year in the priesthood, also Bernard O'Neil, Captain; Frank Stenson, Pilot; Charles H. Trice, Grand Knight; Allen A. Baker, Comptroller; and Jess Lanzafame, Admiral. Mr. Mino also presented several of the Sir Knights present and asked them to take a bow.

Mr. Sweeney played several selections on the piano during the dinner, and was assisted by Peter Matthews who played the banjo. Joe Saccoman rendered a few solos and Bill Leehive led the group, singing Irish songs.

Senior former Faithful Navigator Joseph F. Sullivan thanked the assembly on behalf of the former Faithful Navigators for the honors they received and hoped that they would be able to take an active part in the assembly for many years to come.

Former Faithful Navigators who were honored were, Joseph F. Sullivan, Patrick T. Murphy, William B. Byrne, John P. Erne, Bernard A. Feeney, William J. Dwyer, Florian P. Wingert, Walter L. Foster, Andrew T. Gilday, William F. Leehive, Frank A. Reis, William A. Kelly, Joseph J. Murphy, Joseph A. McTague, and Jess Lanzafame.

Navigator Clark reminded the members present that at the next regular Assembly meeting on Monday, June 22, election of officers would be held and urged all to attend. Grand Knight Trice also reminded the members that on Monday, June 1, the council elections would take place and urged a large turnout.

Father Dunnigan, Faithful Friar, closed the affair with prayer.

New Campaign Asked

New York, May 27 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman has called for a new letter-writing campaign by Americans to ask Italian friends and relatives to vote against communism in their national elections June 7. In a letter to pastors of 387 New York archdiocese Roman Catholic parishes, made public yesterday, the cardinal recalled that during the 1948 Italian elections many Americans wrote to Italian friends and relatives "urging on them the importance of voting and, further, of voting for candidates sworn to uphold Christian democracy." He said the 1948 letter-writing campaign "was a factor contributing to the defeat of the Communists."

South Korean Named

Seoul, May 27 (AP)—South Korean Maj. Gen. Kang Moon Gong has been named deputy commander of the American Tenth Corps, the Eighth Army said today. Kang also is commander of the newly organized Korean Third Corps. All American corps in Korea have one or more Republic of Korea divisions attached.

The girls with many voices

Sometimes they use just four voices, sometimes as many as six. And they do it just to help brand-new telephone operators.

These girls with the many voices are called "control operators." It's their job to help train the thousands of women we hire each year to keep pace with expanding telephone service. Sitting out of sight of the trainee, they place practice calls—call after call. They take the part of many different people.

Within a few minutes, for example, a control operator may talk with a brogue, a drawl, or an accent.

She'll talk fast. She'll mispronounce cities, give incomplete numbers. In other words, she'll give the trainee a variety of situations that an operator has to handle every day.

After this part of the training, the new operator gets experience and further training at the switchboard. Yes, she's on her way to give everyone the fast, friendly and courteous service so traditional with "the voice with a smile." New York Telephone Company.

Kingston High Routs Poughkeepsie High in Track Meet, 71-24

Henderson Takes 100-200 Dashes; Miller Excels

Maroon Takes Nine Of Eleven Events

It was "everybody gets his letter today" day as Kingston High swamped Poughkeepsie High's inept track squad, 71 to 24 in a dual meet Monday at municipal stadium.

While the Maroons romped over the Blues in a spirit of great levity, Coach G. Warren Kias said it wasn't that true. Only a couple varsity athletes had failed to pick up their "K" up to Monday's meet and they made the grade then.

Win Nine Places

Kingston took 9 of the 12 events that included a 440-yard freshman relay and swept all three places in the 100 and 220. The Blues won the mile, 440 and javelin.

Webster Henderson chased his goatee in excellent times to cop the century in 10.8 and the 220 in 22.3 seconds. Bob Bailey won the 880 and Charlie Coutant grabbed the 180-yard hurdles.

Bill Engle tossed the shot 41 feet 4½ inches to cop that specialty and Fred Jackson gave the Maroons first place in the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 2 inches. That was all he needed. He did 5 feet 8 in the DUSO meet at Newburgh.

Miller Excels

Bucky Miller displayed fine form in the running broad jump with a leap of 19 feet 10¼ inches on his first try. He later did 20 feet 2 inches but was disqualified at the jumping plate.

Henderson led Charlie Johnson and Bucky Miller across the tape in the 100 and surprised in the 200 where Johnson was the favorite.

Blank ran a nice 440 for Poughkeepsie, overhauling Mazzucca, the early pace setter, at the halfway mark and running away from the field at the last turn.

The summaries:

180-yard low hurdles—Won by Coutant, Kingston; second, Murphy, K; third, Triola, P. Time—22.3 secs.

100 yards—Won by Henderson, Kingston; second, Johnson, K; third, Miller, K. Time—10.8.

Mile—Won by Dutcher, Poughkeepsie; second, Jakubowki, K; third, Brown, K. Time—4:56.6.

440 Yards — Won by Blank, Poughkeepsie; second, Mazzucca, K; third, Cox, P. Time—55 secs.

220 yards—Won by Henderson, Kingston; second, Johnson, K; third, Murphy, K. Time—23.1 secs.

880 yards — Won by Bailey, Kingston; second, Aiello, K; third, Clendenen, P. Time—2:12.

Freshman 440 relay — Won by Kingston team of Haines, Richards, Rehr, Mergendahl. Time—50.5 secs.

440 Relay (Senior) — Won by Kingston team of Henderson, Miller, Coutant and Johnson. Time—46.4 secs.

Shot put—Won by Bill Engle, Kingston; second, Quick, K; third, Scheffer, K. Distance—41 feet 4¼ inches.

High jump—Won by Fred Jackson, Kingston; second, five feet two inches tie between Besemer, K, and Blank, P, at 5 feet.

Javelin—Won by Smith, Poughkeepsie; second, Stricker, K; third, Cox, P. Distance—158 feet.

Broad jump — Won by Miller, Kingston; second, Smith, P; third, Porter, K. Distance—19 feet 10¼ inches.

Subway Tossers Capture Third Softball Victory

Telepas KHS Hope

A well-rested George Telepas is Kingston High's pitching hope against Newburgh Academy in the climactic DUSO League contest Thursday at 4 p. m. at municipal stadium.

This is the game that could decide it all.

Far from razor sharp in recent outings, Telepas was extremely effective in early-season games and Coach Bill Burke hopes his veteran southpaw can regain the touch for the big one.

If Telepas falters, Coach Burke can turn to Bruce Bechtold and Frank Reis for relief duty. Both were sharp in their last starting roles.

There is a strong possibility that the Maroon mentor will stick with the revised lineup and batting order that functioned so effectively behind Frank Reis in the 7-0 victory at Middletown.

That would place John Turck in right field and Joe Modica in left, with Leroy Gianuzzi as leadoff and shortstop. Turck cracked three hits against the Middies and Modica slammed a homer.

Newburgh's obvious pitching choice is Lefty Bob Early but Coach Palancoff may switch to Bill Short, the new sensation of the staff. Early was terrific the last time out, stopping Beacon, 2-0, on a two-hitter.

Beacon Golf Squad Beats Maroon, 10-2

Beacon High golfers won four straight singles matches to defeat Kingston High, 10-2, in a dual meet Monday at the Southern Dutchess links.

Don Talbot, the No. 1 Beacon player, posted a pair of 37s to gain a 2½-½ win over Harold Van Aken. Ronnie Marks dropped a 2-1 decision to Fred Penzietta. Scott Comstock earned a half point in his match.

The results:

Feller Fizzles

Cleveland, May 27 (AP)—Bobby Feller is having trouble finishing games this year. The veteran Cleveland righthander has started seven games and completed only one. He has failed to go the route in his last five attempts. Bobby was driven to cover by the Detroit Tigers in the ninth inning of last night's game, won by the Tribe, 9-8.

Subway Grill is making a bid to recover its former lofty estate in the City Softball League, but last year's champion Hilltop combine is finding the early going a bit rough.

Also undefeated in two starts is a veteran Beichert's lineup that figures to exert considerable influence on the final standings.

The Subways got a sparkling 3-hitter from veteran Tom Spada Monday to crush Reid's Hotel, 11-0. Danny Basch of Beichert's bested Bill Ferguson of the Esopus Legion in a brilliant intravillage pitching duel, 2-1, while Ferrell McElrath of Lincoln Park Inn blanked the champion Hilltop squad, 6-0, on two hits.

Get Fast Start

The Grills assaulted veteran Eddie Lowe for five runs in the first inning to insure a breeze for Spada, who fanned six. Every player in the Subway lineup hit safely at least once. Tommy Maines, Joe Scholar, Vince Peck and Spada each pounded a double and single. Sonny Barnes and Frank Spada also crashed two safeties.

Fred Orr, the Subway leadoff batter, took the home run leadership of the league with his third circuit clout in three games. Champ Halstein, J. McCardle and Ed Lowe were credited with the Reids' safeties.

Hickey Leads Attack

Jack Hickey rapped a triple and two singles to lead Lincoln Park Inn's 10-hit attack on Joe Enright. F. Embree rapped two hits. The Lincolns scored three times in the first and thrice in the fifth. B. Schaefer and Bill Glaser had the two Hilltop safeties off McElrath.

Andy Murphy was the hero for Beichert's, pounding a bases-loaded single for two runs in the fourth inning. With runners on second and third and two outs, the Legion deliberately walked Form Coughlin to get at Murphy. The big guy foiled the strategy by blasting a clean single to center.

Esopus scored its lone run off Basch in the sixth. The four Beichert safeties went to four different players. Bruce Munson had two singles for the losers.

Miksis Improves

Chicago, May 27 (AP)—Eddie Miksis, the Chicago Cubs' versatile infielder, is showing marked improvement at the plate. Miksis has collected 12 hits in his last 26 times at bat and boosted his average from .241 to .284. Eddie had four-for-nine in yesterday's doubleheader against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Cira, Holland, Eddie Kithcart Also Scheduled

Three New York Aces In the Top Bouts

Jimmy Voss, crack 160-pound Utica Golden Glove champion, returns to the municipal auditorium on Thursday, June 4, to headline the next card of amateur bouts sponsored by the Glasco Athletic Club.

Voss is scheduled to meet Allen Stevens, crack New York 160-pounder who was a member of the Daily News team in the annual inter-city series Golden Gloves against Chicago.

President Fred Davi of the Glasco A.C. also announced that Danny Cira of Utica and Ray Holland of Albany would represent the Adirondack A.A.U. in the other two headline bouts.

The card will consist of five three-round bouts and the three top five-rounders.

Voss Pleased Fans

Public reaction to the sensational action on the May 9 card was excellent and a capacity crowd is expected to watch the next offering of fisticuffs. Voss, a sensational amateur, was especially pleasing to the eye and reminded fans of Tony Barone.

Cira, 142-pounder, who dropped a close decision to Joe Thomer of New York, returns to meet James Piper, 142, another New York member of the East-West Golden Gloves squad.

Kingston fans will be getting their first look at the Albany sensation, Roy Holland, in the opening five-rounder against Fred Thomas, 140, the third member of the East-West team.

"Ben Becker, chairman of the Adirondack AAU boxing committee, lined up an excellent card for us," Promoter Davi said in announcing his three top bouts. "Voss was a big hit in his first showing here and Cira showed great courage in coming off the canvas to lose a close decision."

Kithcart To Fight

Another bout eagerly awaited by the Glasco Athletic Club is the rubber match between Eddie Kithcart, Adirondack AAU 118-pound Novice champion, and Noble Smith of Albany.

Smith scored a two-round TKO over Kithcart in a stunning upset after Eddie had whipped Smith in the Adirondack Golden Gloves finals. A looping right hand in the first round started Kithcart's downfall.

The Glasco youngster is anxious for the rubber go and says he will avoid the mistakes he made in the second bout.

Other Glasco A.C. representatives, all victorious on the first card, will appear in the three-round prelims. The Ray Taylor operatives are Bobby Bridges, the Rosendale Bobcat who scored a sensational knockout victory; Bill Metzger and Bill Ritter.

Promoter Davi has announced a new seating arrangement for future cards. Under the new plan, only the ringside seats will be reserved. All others will be sold at general admission prices. Details can be found in advertisements elsewhere on this page.

Miksis Improves

Chicago, May 27 (AP)—Eddie Miksis, the Chicago Cubs' versatile infielder, is showing marked improvement at the plate. Miksis has collected 12 hits in his last 26 times at bat and boosted his average from .241 to .284. Eddie had four-for-nine in yesterday's doubleheader against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Seek Ball Games

The Waterbury Colored Barons, New England's leading Negro team, are booking both road and home games with accredited semi-pro teams. They would like to hear from teams in this area. For details write to Al Brewer, Allerton Road, Naugatuck, Conn.

Feller Fizzles

Cleveland, May 27 (AP)—Bobby Feller is having trouble finishing games this year. The veteran Cleveland righthander has started seven games and completed only one. He has failed to go the route in his last five attempts. Bobby was driven to cover by the Detroit Tigers in the ninth inning of last night's game, won by the Tribe, 9-8.

Braves' Surprise

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Everyone knew the Milwaukee Braves were improved over last year, but even Manager Charley Grimm, the optimist eternal, didn't dream that his outfit would be leading the National League with more than a month of the season gone.

Grimm's club staggered home last year, 32 games behind the Brooklyn Dodgers, who won the pennant and his prediction this year was fifth and with plenty of breaks perhaps fourth.

This is a team that should get better before it gets worse, too. Neither Sid Gordon nor Andy Pafko have been hitting, and these two veterans figure to be the mainstays of the attack along with Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock. Both Gordon and Pafko are under .250.

Grimm's youth movement is panning out even better than he expected, but in the long run it will be the veterans like Gordon and Pafko, along with pitchers Max Surkont and Warren Spahn who will spell the difference between a struggling club or one with confidence.

Spahn Wins

Spahn, a four-time 20-game winner, hurled the Braves to a 6-0 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs yesterday to pull his team a game and a half ahead of the second place St. Louis Cardinals.

It was a smooth four-hit job, and was especially gratifying to Grimm, since Spahn has been troubled by a sore arm recently. The victory was Spahn's fourth against one defeat. He still may take over his accustomed spot as top man on the Braves' staff, although this year Surkont, with a 6-0 mark, has been the No. 1 man.

The victory was the 12th in the last 16 games for the Braves and was the sixth straight game in which they have not made an error. All told, they've been charged with only 21 miscues, and that, too, has something to do with their success. They lead the Nation League in defense.

The Cards lost a half-game to the Braves when they split a doubleheader with the Chicago Cubs. The Redbirds won the opener, 6-3, but dropped a 3-2 decision to Turk Lown in the nightcap.

St. Louis has been cutting a swath through the league, too. The defeat in the afterpiece was only the second in the last nine games for the Cards.

Haddix Routed

Harvey Haddix had an easy time in the opener with Red Schoendienst supplying most of the power. The second baseman had a perfect three-for-three, including a home run.

In the second game, the Cards looked to be on their way to another triumph. They were leading, 2-0, in the sixth inning on the strength of bases empty home runs by Vinegar Bend Mizell and Enos Slaughter. But the Cubs got rid of Mizell in the sixth and held off the Redbirds the rest of the way.

They were the only games scheduled in the National League.

Both the Cleveland Indians and the Chicago White Sox picked up a half-game on the idle New York Yankees in the American League. The second place Indians fought off a ninth inning rally by the Detroit Tigers to pull it out, 9-8, on a home run by Larry Doby, and the Pale Hose polished off the St. Louis Browns, 8-2.

Bob Feller was coasting along with a five-run lead when the Tiger bats suddenly awakened and before the ninth inning was over the tail-enders had scored five runs to tie the count. Bob Hooper, who came to feller's aid, got credit for the victory.

The defeat by the White Sox marked the ninth game in a row the hapless Browns have lost.

Philadelphia and Boston were rained out, while the Yanke and Washington Senators weren't scheduled.

Baseball Slate Resumes Today

Rain washed out the entire Little League slate and the scheduled City League contest between Wiltwyck Motors and Colonial Merchants yesterday.

The twilight league schedule resumes this evening at 6:15 p. m. at the Athletic Field, with Doblers meeting the Kingston Indians.

In Little League action, Red Sox meet the Dodgers in the American League. The National circuit has an open date and resumes play Thursday when the Braves meet the Indians.

Also rained out was the scheduled DUSO League tennis match between Kingston High and Ellenville.

Saxton-Miceli Are Rated Even

Detroit, May 27 (AP)—Johnny Saxton and Joe Miceli, two high-ranking welterweights with contrasting styles, are rated even for their 10-round bout at Olympia Stadium tonight.

Both are from New York. That's where the similarity ends.

Saxton, undefeated in 39 pro fights, likes to work at close range and wear down his opponent with short body punches.

Miceli is more spectacular. He swings an odd-looking, but effective left uppercut, the only right-handed fighter to rely on such a weapon.

Saxton is ranked No. 4 among the welterweights. His record is 38-0-1. Miceli, with a 38-13-4 record, is ranked No. 6.

The fight will be televised starting at 9 p. m. (EST)

Spahn Ahead

Milwaukee, May 27 (AP)—Warren Spahn, Milwaukees' ace southpaw, is just a step ahead of his "games won" pace of last year. Spahn, who picked up his fourth victory in 1952 on May 27, notched his fourth triumph of the current campaign yesterday, a 6-0 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs. He won 14 last season.

Campanella Heads Arlington Card

Joe Campanella, the Thornwood Flyer, will attempt to repeat his sensational victory of last week, when he heads the field in the 30-lap stock feature tonight at Arlington Speedway.

First race is scheduled for 8:30 p. m.

Furnishing the opposition for Campanella will be such highly regarded foes as Jocko Maggiacomo, Larry Shurter of West Shokan, Ted Seabiscuit, Doug Benjamin and Bill Murdock of Kingston.

Sox Teams Boast Best One-Run Record

New York, May 27 (AP)—If winning the close games is a mark of a good ball club, the Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox are two of the better ones.

The Red Sox have won eight tilts by a one-run margin this year and dropped only three. The hustling Chisox have a 6-2 record in games decided by a single tally.

The Brooklyn Dodgers with four wins and two losses, have the best one-run slate in the National League.

SA Seeks Help To Send Children To Summer Camp

Plans were made at a meeting of the Salvation Army advisory board this week to enlist support in sending a number of local children to summer camp.

The advisory board's camp committee will seek sponsors—either individuals or organizations — to finance campers at $25 each to attend the Salvation Army Camp at Altamount.

The campers will be selected from a list of boys and girls from seven years of age and up who for one reason or another will be unable to attend any of the other private or agency camps in the area. At present, there are 19 deserving individuals the local Salvation Army authorities would like to see given the opportunity to attend camp. If money becomes available, more can be added to the list. All are from this immediate area.

The $25 fee covers one camper for the average stay of 10 days.

Receives Wolf Badge

Thomas Tierney of Pack 3, Den 4, received his wolf badge, a gold arrow and Denner stripe, during the presentation of awards Sunday, May 24.

C of C Releases Data on Housing

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce today released the following housing information taken from the recently published report of the U. S. Census Bureau. Reference is made to the relatively favorable statistics for Kingston as compared to other Hudson Valley cities.

In Kingston 56.3 per cent of the occupied dwelling units are owner occupied, while in Newburgh the percentage is 38.1 per cent and in Poughkeepsie 37.5 per cent. In Kingston 73 per cent of the dwelling units have central heat while in Poughkeepsie and Newburgh the percentages are 69.7 per cent and 63.6 per cent respectively.

For Ulster county the statistics also are on the favorable side, the Chamber spokesman said. In Ulster county 65.3 per cent of the occupied dwelling units are owner occupied. In Orange county the percentage is 56.3 per cent and in Dutchess 45 per cent. The central heating figures for Ulster county are slightly less favorable, with 63.9 per cent of the dwelling units having central heat while in Dutchess and Orange counties the percentages are 71.4 per cent and 71. per cent respectively.

The census report contains considerable detailed information about all phases of housing, including plumbing, heat occupancy, size, etc. The Chamber will loan the report to anyone for a brief period on request.

SA Seeks Help To Send Children To Summer Camp

Plans were made at a meeting of the Salvation Army advisory board this week to enlist support in sending a number of local children to summer camp.

The advisory board's camp committee will seek sponsors—either individuals or organizations — to finance campers at $25 each to attend the Salvation Army Camp at Altamount.

The campers will be selected from a list of boys and girls from seven years of age and up who for one reason or another will be unable to attend any of the other private or agency camps in the area. At present, there are 19 deserving individuals the local Salvation Army authorities would like to see given the opportunity to attend camp. If money becomes available, more can be added to the list. All are from this immediate area.

The $25 fee covers one camper for the average stay of 10 days.

Support of Palsy Campaign Is Asked By T. J. Hanlon

A special appeal in behalf of the campaign to raise funds for the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center in Kingston was made today by General Chairman Thomas J. Hanlon.

"The citizens of Ulster county have a treatment center of which they have a right to be justly proud. From my observation and studies, as well as those of other competent persons, our Center—yours and mine, located at 400 Broadway, Kingston, is one of the most efficient in the state. At the present time there are 80 handicapped children being treated.

"The budget and goal for 1953 is $20,000. If each person living in Ulster county makes a contribution in accordance with his or her means our goal will be achieved.

"We are sending out many letters to the people of the county. If you have otherwise been solicited and have already given we are most grateful. If not please do not lay aside the letter you will receive. Any amount however small will be acceptable and will help to make up the total that is necessary to maintain this much needed service. Do not forget the handicapped children of our county."

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

MY RINGSIDE SEAT IN MOSCOW
By Nicholas Nyardi
297 pp

This book was written because the author was convinced after only a few days of his seven months stay in Moscow, that now, as never before, intimate and complete knowledge of our Russian adversary is vital to the western democracies.

That knowledge Nyardi was able to obtain as few others have, because as minister of finance of his native Hungary he, although he was openly anti-communistic was nevertheless sent by his country's wily Communist deputy prime minister to negotiate Russia's fraudulent 200-million dollar claim against Hungary.

Arriving in Moscow in May, 1947 with his delegation of able, intelligent, patriotic fellow-countrymen on what they felt would be a hopeless mission, Mr. Nyardi and his party were met by a formidable Russian-Hungarian delegation and quartered in the exclusive Hotel Moskva, because just then it suited the Politboro to court Hungary. Just one example of political shenanigans among the many in this book.

The hotel was appallingly expensive. The author's two-room suite cost $30 a day; dinner for seven that first evening, with drinks—and only a very little to drink—cost $400! That was the first and last time the Mission allowed itself to be stuck to that extent. Cheaper eating places were found—for instance dinner could be had at places similar to Schrafft's or Longchamps for as little as $25 per person! Their rooms, large and ornate, bristled with concealed microphones; every move, every act, every trip was noted and reported by the MVD (Russian version of the Gestapo). This mission was going to be tough. However the hotel was located directly across the street from the Kremlin. While it lasted, the delegation was free to travel about the city and a large part of the surrounding country—accompanied always by a hard-boiled guide—and so to obtain a particularly intimate picture of life in the Soviet Union from the lowest to the highest echelons, together with a large slice of the inside machinations of the Politboro, gleaned from the mission's long drawn out conference with them.

Indeed, after a good look at the opulent luxury of the over-fed ruling classes contrasted with the miserable, degrading poverty of the masses (in Moscow, for instance, and in fact in a large part of Russia the people were near starvation and living space was at the rate of four persons to the room, 12 to the average kitchen, 15 to 20 to the average bathroom-confusion and filth multiplied) the author felt more than ever compelled to tell of the truly horrible conditions behind the Iron Curtain and to warn us of the serious threat which it means to America.

A lot of what has been only surmised, Mr. Nyardi has brought sharply to light. His word pictures of leaders of the Politboro, particularly Beria, Molotov and Malenkov, whom he shrewdly named as Stalin's successors any one or all three, are unforgettable. His impression of Lenin's tomb; the ghost city of Leningrad; ravaged Lwow, blatant Russian propaganda; Deification of Stalin ("Stalin brooks no interference from Jehovah") Cruel Russian purges, going on all the time, are to say the least, alarming. His clearly stated reasons for the failure of the very expensive "Voice of America" beamed to Russia and his extremely simple and inexpensive alternative reveals a bungle in that field. He tells of the real Russian attitude toward the Jews, a reversal of what most people think. What really happens to any and all military or non-military goods sent or sold to the Soviet Union is an eye-opener. It is all most timely and frightening.

The grand Molotov reception celebrating the 30th anniversary of "The Glorious October Revolution" was the biggest and most lavish event of the year. Nothing could quite point up the mockery of Stalin's "government of the common people" as this preposterous orgy. There was buffet as long as a battleship, loaded with an abundance of every known exotic delicacy and of course oceans of champagne and vodka. Among the guests in gorgeous silks, satins, furs and a blaze of jewels were, among others' Mother Bloor of the French Workers; Romania's Anna Pauker; Hungarian Deputy Prime Minister Rakosi with his oriental wife; all of the members of the Politboro except Stalin plus Togliatti, Italian Communist leader; Anna Louise Strong American journalist and one-time friend of the Kremlin, and Hungarian Communist Horvath in white tie and tails and wearing on his head a plain workman's cap. The common people, my eye.

Many things about the Soviet Union are told well and convincingly: Such as life among the higher classes in a so-called classless society. The famous Dache Colony reserved for members of the Politboro, its private highway leading to Moscow, guarded every 50 feet of the way by M.V.D.'s armed with tommy guns. Preferred housing and preferred treatment for the privileged few and so on ad nauseum.

How and why Stalin permitted the return of worship in the Greek Orthodox churches. Gossip about Stalin's private life, the state of his health, etc. Stalin's biggest five-year plan born on the eve of V-E Day and carried forward with inhuman precision by "GUSIMEK"—one of the greatest extortion schemes in history—to build up the great Red Army to truly terrifying proportions. The author is firmly convinced that the Politboro is preparing to start a war against the democracies of the world—when they are ready—a war that may well make previous ones look like border skirmishes.

The chapters about the Soviet Union's flirtation with Communist leader, Mao of China; and the one about "The Tito Trouble" are enlightening and most outspoken. Here is how he describes Tito: "Tito is one of the most thoroughgoing bounders in the history of the world, a brilliant man with the disposition of a mink, the courage of a lion, the physique of an ox, the vanity of a peacock, and the constancy of a tomcat." And now he is being entertained by royalty of a western democracy.

An amusing highlight is the scheme used by the Russians to fuddle their adversaries with much vodka at the conference table. They found the Hungarians were as mighty drinkers as themselves, so that scheme failed. Another is a recital of the romantic adventures of one of Mr. Nyardi's aides, from the results of which he was extricated with difficulty. The author's own romance was a happy one. Before the mission ended he was married to Eva, aristocratic Hungarian secretary of the mission.

The mission ended with a reduction of the 200 million dollar claim to a doubtful promise to pay 50 million dollars. Soon after their return to Hungary, they were forced to witness the end of their little republic and the confiscation of everything of value of their own and of their fellow countrymen's possessions by the communistic leaders, under orders Moscow. After that the author and his wife went into voluntary exile in America, where they were very glad to have their little son born an American citizen on the sunny side of the Iron Curtain.

Nothing could quite point up the mockery of Stalin's "government of the common people" as this preposterous orgy. There was buffet as long as a battleship, loaded with an abundance of every known exotic delicacy and of course oceans of champagne and vodka. Among the guests in gorgeous silks, satins, furs and a blaze of jewels were, among others' Mother Bloor of the French Workers; Romania's Anna Pauker; Hungarian Deputy Prime Minister Rakosi with his oriental wife; all of the members of the Politboro except Stalin plus Togliatti, Italian Communist leader; Anna Louise Strong American journalist and one-time friend of the Kremlin, and Hungarian Communist Horvath in white tie and tails and wearing on his head a plain workman's cap. The common people, my eye.

Many things about the Soviet Union are told well and convincingly: Such as life among the higher classes in a so-called classless society. The famous Dache Colony reserved for members of the Politboro, its private highway leading to Moscow, guarded every 50 feet of the way by M.V.D.'s armed with tommy guns. Preferred housing and preferred treatment for the privileged few and so on ad nauseum.

How and why Stalin permitted the return of worship in the Greek Orthodox churches. Gossip about Stalin's private life, the state of his health, etc. Stalin's biggest five-year plan born on the eve of V-E Day and carried forward with inhuman precision by "GUSIMEK"—one of the greatest extortion schemes in history—to build up the great Red Army to truly terrifying proportions. The author is firmly convinced that the Politboro is preparing to start a war against the democracies of the world—when they are ready—a war that may well make previous ones look like border skirmishes.

The chapters about the Soviet Union's flirtation with Communist leader, Mao of China; and the one about "The Tito Trouble" are enlightening and most outspoken. Here is how he describes Tito: "Tito is one of the most thoroughgoing bounders in the history of the world, a brilliant man with the disposition of a mink, the courage of a lion, the physique of an ox, the vanity of a peacock, and the constancy of a tomcat." And now he is being entertained by royalty of a western democracy.

An amusing highlight is the scheme used by the Russians to fuddle their adversaries with much vodka at the conference table. They found the Hungarians were as mighty drinkers as themselves, so that scheme failed. Another is a recital of the romantic adventures of one of Mr. Nyardi's aides, from the results of which he was extricated with difficulty. The author's own romance was a happy one. Before the mission ended he was married to Eva, aristocratic Hungarian secretary of the mission.

The mission ended with a reduction of the 200 million dollar claim to a doubtful promise to pay 50 million dollars. Soon after their return to Hungary, they were forced to witness the end of their little republic and the confiscation of everything of value of their own and of their fellow countrymen's possessions by the communistic leaders, under orders Moscow. After that the author and his wife went into voluntary exile in America, where they were very glad to have their little son born an American citizen on the sunny side of the Iron Curtain.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Ellenville, May 25—United States stamps of 1948 are on display this month in the adult reading room of the Ellenville Public Library, while pipe cleaner novelties and ceramic articles made by the 10-year old members of Girl Scout Troop 21 are now being exhibited in the children's room. Lent and arranged by Kenneth Mance the stamp display features first day covers, a matched position set, plate blocks, blocks of four and single stamps of the issues of 1948, often called the banner year for U. S. philately when 28 commermoratives and one air mail stamp were issued. Both the stamp and the art display will remain on exhibit at the library until June 5.

William Terwilliger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Terwilliger, was a member of the Crane Chorus which presented its 22nd annual festival at Potsdam State Teachers College on May 16 and 17. He is a junior in the Crane College of Music and a 1950 graduate of Ellenville High School.

Hadley DePuy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus DePuy, who will graduate from St. Lawrence University, Canton, in June, will be preceptor and work on his master's degree at Colgate University under the Colgate Preceptorial program. DePuy is a member of Sigma Pi fraternity, was junior class president and president of Thelomathesian, student governing body. He was also selected for Kixioc, men's senior honor society, and Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities for 1953.

Gordon Ayer has been elected chairman and Val Coddington commissioner of the Rondout Valley Boy Scout District. Ayer had been serving as acting chairman since Frank Ray resigned several months ago after he had been transferred by the New York Telephone Company. Also elected at the recent meeting was Kenneth Mance as vice chairman and Dr. Martin Fields as finance chairman. Among other appointments made were those of W. Deloise Craft and Arthur Bilyeu for organization and extension.

Miss Marion Rose, who leaves this Saturday on the SS Constitution for Europe will visit France and Switzerland before spending three weeks in Vienna and Austria with her cousin Dr. Otto Zekert and family and Prof. Bertha Zekert in Lisiz. Before returning home she will also visit Italy.

The regularly monthly meeting and dinner of the Ellenville Chapter of the Isaak Walton League will be held next Wednesday at their club rooms at 6:30. A chicken dinner will be served.

Matters to be discussed include the choosing of a local boy to spend two weeks at the New York State Conservation Camp at De-Bruce, discussion of the formation of a new chapter in this area and plans for the annual ladies night meeting in June. Sound movies in the training of field dogs will be shown after the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ludlow, Sr., moved Saturday from Clinton avenue to the house formerly occupied by Mrs. Henry Horton on Maple avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eisenhart of Poughkeepsie spent the weekend at their camp at the Cape.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Kleindienst of New York were weekend guests of the former's brother, the Rev. Francis J. Kleindienst.

Mrs. Bert Rode spent Saturday in New York.

Allen Milton Potter of New York was a guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen D. Potter, for the weekend.

Mrs. Walter N. Thayer of the Wayside Inn will leave Wednesday for a visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Attorney and Mrs. Walter N. Thayer of Rye.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kemmerer and family have moved into an apartment on Nevins street in a house owned by James Mansfield.

Pfc. Michael Russett of Fort Dix, N. J., spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas G. Russett. On Saturday he marched in the Air Force parade in New York.

The May meeting of the Shawangunk Garden Club was held Monday, May 11, at the home of Mrs. William DuBois. After a short business meeting Mrs. Vincent Roy of Cragsmoor gave a talk on An Acre of Diamond. Miss Anna Henninger, president, told the members of an invitation she had received from the Garden Lovers Club of Middletown, to attend the showing of a film Modern Chrysanthemums for Fall Beauty at the Universalist Church in Middletown. Tea will be served. Mrs. McDole invited the Club to visit her garden the last week in May or the first week in June when from 100 to 300 iris of different varieties will be in bloom.

Professor E. Hunter Wright, president of Cragsmoor Community Associates, has concluded arrangements for the signing of a lease on both the Cragsmoor Playhouse and Restaurant to Lee K. Holland, New York producer manager who operated the theatre last year. An 11-week season of plays starting June 23 is scheduled. Directors of the offerings will include Hill Bermont, James Walsh and Prof. Vaughn Deering. Operation of the restaurant will be under the supervision of Jean Le Seyeux.

Mrs. Harold E. Rippert, Miss Abigail Stokes and Mrs. Dorothy Hoemer represented the Teachers Association of the Third Supervisory District of Ulster County at the Second Regional Conference of the Classroom Teachers Association of New York State and the National Education Association Department of Classroom Teachers recently at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie. The theme of the conference was The Road Ahead for Classroom Teachers. Some of the most urgent problems were discussed and recommendations made in group meetings.

The regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of Veterans Memorial Hospital was held Tuesday evening at the Methodist Church. The minutes were read and the treasurer's report was given by Miss Katherine Terwilliger. Mrs. Devo W. Johnson read a report on cubicle curtains, Mrs. James Morros reported for the good cheer committee, and Mrs. Ernest Sherman showed samples of the work of the sewing committee. Mrs. Ben Cramer discussed plans for Tag Day, Friday, June 5. The next meeting will be held in the nurses dining room at Veterans Memorial Hospital, Tuesday, June 16, at 8 p. m.

Allen D. Potter, president of the New York State Division of the Isaak Walton League, accompanied by Roger Fredenburgh, local game warden, who was guest speaker at the Utica Chapter of the league, attended a meeting at the Utica Chapter on May 21. Frank J. Potter, II, and Donald Sprague also attended. Along with Ellenville, Utica is one of the first chapters in the state to meet its quota of new members.

Thomas Smith is a patient at Veterans Memorial Hospital as the result of a fall in his home on Friday of last week in which he fractured his hip.

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Brownie and Girl Scout Ceremonies Are Held at School

After the color guard advance, Mrs. Leo Herbert, troop committee chairman, in observance of the Girl Scout rule, "a Girl Scout is courteous," presented gifts with an expression of thanks to troop leaders and their assistants who served during the past year. They were: Mrs. Theodore Lee, leader, Troop 74, Mrs. Malcolm Rose, assistant and Mrs. Walter Van Wagenen, assistant; Mrs. Charles Rapp, leader, Troop 12, Mrs. Gordon Anderson and Mrs. Kenneth Hefty, assistants; Mrs. Robert Gordon, leader, Troop 27, Mrs. Warren Graver, assistant; Mrs. Carson Hutchins, leader Brownie Troop 29, Mrs. Inger Walker and Mrs. Donald Twine, assistants. Gifts were also presented to the two retiring leaders, Mrs. Gordon Anderson and Mrs. Malcolm Rose.

In appreciation of long association with the Woodstock Girl Scouts, adult service pins were presented to Mrs. Charles Rapp, 10 years of service, and Mrs. Theodore Lee, five years.

Mrs. Herbert announced the names of the new members of the Girl Scout activities committee. They are Mrs. C. J. Van Rijn, secretary; Mrs. Hans Cohn, treasurer; Mrs. Gerald Green, assistant leader, Troop 27; Mrs. Thomas Dendy, leader of new Brownie troop; Mrs. Charles Boswell, assistant leader Troop 74; Mrs. E. Summer Program For Girls Will Start on July 6

Woodstock, May 23—The summer recreation program for girls, sponsored by the Woodstock public health nursing committee, will open Monday, July 6, and continue through Friday, August 28, it was announced at the committee's regular monthly meeting Thursday afternoon at Deanies. Details concerning the schedule of activities at the recreation field, planned for weekday mornings, and the names of the supervisors of the program will be announced within two weeks. Mrs. George Laws will serve as chairman of the recreation committee, assisted by Mrs. Charles King, Mrs. Joseph Marr, Mrs. Victor Busch and Mrs. Inger Walker.

Mrs. Laws stated that she had received a report from Montcena DeWitt, chairman of the building committee, that the sanitary building at the field will be completed by July 1.

Mrs. Busch, president, read a letter received from Mrs. Joseph Marr, of the Woodstock Community War Memorial Fund, requesting funds for the upkeep of the memorial on the village green. It was voted to send a donation to the fund and Mrs. Busch appointed a representative to attend the organization's meeting Monday, May 25, at 8 p. m. at the Town Hall.

In a summation of the committee's dental program for the year, Miss Anne Cassidy, public health nurse, said that records are now being assembled at the Woodstock School in preparation for the dental clinic. She entered upon the great educational value which has been derived from the periodic visits to the school of Mrs. Mary Chatfield, dental hygienist.

"We are now beginning to observe the results of many years' work on the dental program for children in this community. Parents are exhibiting fine cooperation, and more people are taking their children to the dentist. The results are obvious in the decreasing amount of corrective dental work being required each year by the children."

Dental Clinic Slated

Miss Casisdy announced that the dental clinic for pre-school will be held on June 25, 26 and 29, at the Woodstock School. Appointments may be arranged by calling Mrs. Victor Busch, at Woodstock 9403, on the mornings of June 15 and 16. Children will be seen for re-examination on June 25, and those who have not been examined previously will be seen June 26 and 29.

Speaking of the pre-school child, Miss Cassidy stressed the importance of his health problems. This, she believes, is the neglected age group. Once the periodic infant examinations have been completed and he has had his required shots, he becomes more independent after the age of two. Ofter a new baby in the family shifts the interest from him to the new arrival. He looks well, and he acts well and there is no apparent necessity to take him to a doctor. Consequently, Miss Cassidy urged mothers of pre-school children to take them to their doctor for regular check-ups.

Reporting on transportation requests for the month of May, Mrs. King said the arrangements had been made for regular monthly visits to the Tumor Clinic in Kingston, a service which is now being included in the committee's projects.

Other reports were submitted by Mrs. Warren Hutty, who said that seven calls had been received for the visiting housekeeper's service; Mrs. Clarence Snyder, treasurer and loan closet chairman; and Mrs. Gladys Feeley, secretary.

The final meeting of the season will be held with a luncheon at the Town House, Thursday, June 25, at 1 p. m.

Letter Advises Group of Action

Woodstock, May 23—A letter has been sent by Houston Richards, president of the Woodstock Library, to all members concerning the action taken last June by the board of trustees in arranging for the coming retirement of Mrs. Alice Thompson, librarian.

"It is to be noted," Richards said, "that under the existing by-laws of the Library, the board is charged with the duty of providing for the appointment of the librarian and for making all arrangements for his or her retirement. The board of trustees, consisting of 25 Woodstock residents, has been quite conscious of that duty, particularly in view of the fact that last June Mrs. Thompson was already four years past the retirement age recommended by the State Library.

"The trustees thoroughly appreciate Mrs. Thompson's many years of devoted service to the library, but because of her age they had at various times considered possible succesors.

Eligible for Benefits

"At a special meeting of the board, held in June 1952, the subject of Mrs. Thompson's retirement was fully discussed. All agreed that the time had come to appoint a competent successor. But they also agreed that Mrs. Thompson should stay on for another year and a half, or until January 1, 1954. At this date she becomes eligible for a social security annuity of $50 a month. It was further agreed that a substantial gift be made Mrs. Thompson at the time of her retirement, the amount to be determined at the 1953 budget meeting.

"An annual pension of $700, as proposed by some, is not possible because the bulk of the library's income is derived from public subscriptions and the proceeds of the annual library fair. This income varies from year to year, depending upon prevailing economic conditions, and in view of the library expenses, it would be most unsound to guarantee the proposed pension.

"When the library received its permanent charter from the state in September 1951, Mrs. Thompson was over 70 years of age and therefore ineligible for the state retirement plan.

"At the same meeting, in June, the trustees voted that Mrs. Lynn Wells be appointed to succeed Mrs. Thompson. Mrs. Wells' qualifications had been carefully considered. A college graduate with library training, and much executive experience, she was chosen for her personality as well as professional capabilities. Mrs. Wells was for 15 years principal of Rut-

Brownie and Girl Scout Ceremonies Are Held at School

Woodstock, May 27—A large gathering of relatives and friends witnessed the impressive candlelight ceremony which climaxed the court awards for the Brownie and Girl Scout troops of this village Monday night at the Woodstock School.

After the color guard advance, Mrs. Leo Herbert, troop committee chairman, in observance of the Girl Scout rule, "a Girl Scout is courteous," presented gifts with an expression of thanks to troop leaders and their assistants who served during the past year. They were: Mrs. Theodore Lee, leader, Troop 74, Mrs. Malcolm Rose, assistant and Mrs. Walter Van Wagenen, assistant; Mrs. Charles Rapp, leader, Troop 12, Mrs. Gordon Anderson and Mrs. Kenneth Hefty, assistants; Mrs. Robert Gordon, leader, Troop 27, Mrs. Warren Graver, assistant; Mrs. Carson Hutchins, leader Brownie Troop 29, Mrs. Inger Walker and Mrs. Donald Twine, assistants. Gifts were also presented to the two retiring leaders, Mrs. Gordon Anderson and Mrs. Malcolm Rose.

In appreciation of long association with the Woodstock Girl Scouts, adult service pins were presented to Mrs. Charles Rapp, 10 years of service, and Mrs. Theodore Lee, five years.

Mrs. Herbert announced the names of the new members of the Girl Scout activities committee. They are Mrs. C. J. BIG THREE MEETING

President Eisenhower's action in arranging a Big Three meeting next month with Prime Minister Churchill and the French premier is a stroke of genuine world statesmanship.

It is the President's way of reaffirming the basic solidarity of the major western powers at a time when carping critics on both sides of the Atlantic have seemed to stress the differences rather than the common viewpoints among them.

It is Mr. Eisenhower's recognition that the West cannot afford to have these differences enlarged upon, that the sensible thing for strong-willed friends to do is get together and try to iron out difficulties.

Moreover, it represents a decision by the President to test for the first time in several years the usefulness of the three- or four-way parley of heads of state as a technique of international policy-making.

As Mr. Eisenhower's advisers stressed, the calling of the Big Three meeting in no way constitutes a commitment to sit down later with the Russians in a Big Four conference. Presumably the President still insists that Soviet good faith, evidenced by deeds, be a prelude to any high-level conclave involving the Kremlin.

A satisfactory Korean truce certainly is one such deed. If it is arrived at in the next few weeks, and the way thus partly opened to negotiation of broader East-West issues, then the Big Three will have plenty to talk about in Bermuda.

First and foremost, they will need to find some kind of common ground on which to stand in a political conference affecting Far Eastern questions. Strange as it may seem, the West appears to have attained utterly no agreement up to now on what terms they should seek from the Communist world.

Next, they will have to develop a consistent western posture on matters concerned with the future of Europe. What are their terms for a unified Germany? Will they insist that an Austrian treaty be concluded before action on Germany is countenanced? In a conference with the Soviet Union, would they declare their resolve to go on building up the West against the Russian threat of aggression?

Even if the truce talks still are deadlocked, the Bermuda conversations should be fruitful. The leading topics then will be how to gain peace in Korea and Indo-China, as a preliminary to wider settlements. Truce or no, it surely seems wise to define without further delay the West's political goals in those countries and with respect to Red China.

It is amazing that calls for high-level East-West talks could find such ready ears in some important western quarters, when it is realized how ill-prepared the West is for effective negotiating. Agreement on terms is long overdue.

Mr. Eisenhower appears to have sensed keenly this necessity as a vital prerequisite to any future East-West gathering. If this need can be even partly filled at Bermuda, it will blend well with the President's fundamental purpose of renewing and fortifying the common understandings among Britain, France and the United States.

YOSHIDA RETURNS

Once again 75-year-old Shigeru Yoshida is the head of the Japanese government. In the past he has pursued a policy of close cooperation with the United States and he will probably do his best to continue along that path. But his power is not nearly so great as it was a year ago. He is prime minister at the sufference of a number of splinter parties who may desert him at any time the fancy strikes them.

One of these days the majority of Americans may be 80 years old and over, while one out of every 10 will reach 100. This prediction comes from Dr. Ivor Griffith, president of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy. He attributes this longer life to the advance in medical science and drug production.

KNOW YOUR ENEMY!

The American people are still unaccustomed to having an enemy. Between about 1920 and 1941, some Americans thought of Japan as an enemy and laughed that country off as too insignificant to bother with. During the Hitler period in Germany, an effort was made to stir public opinion to hate Germany and fear a Fifth Column with little success until war came.

There are still a great many Americans who laugh away the Russian menace. They say that the Russians will never meet our productivity.

Let us therefore have a look at the enemy. Soviet Russia is 8,500,000 square miles spread across 160 degrees of longitude, or nearly halfway around the globe. China is about 4,000,000 square miles, or four times the size of the United States. It is 6,000 miles from Vladivostok to Leningrad; it is 2,500 miles from New York to San Francisco.

The Russian sphere of influence includes much more territory than this. Also to be counted are Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, part of Finland, Poland, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Albania and East Germany; Sakhalin, the Kurile Islands, China, Mongolia, Tannu Tuva.

Also, Russia has troops moving into Indo-China, fighting in Korea, and on the borders of Iran. Soviet China has conquered Tibet.

In Czechoslovakia, Poland and Hungary, Russia has come into possession of large industrial plants. In East Germany, coal and potash mines, metal smelting plants, artificial gas and rubber plants serve Russia. In Czechoslovakia, Russia got the great Skoda steel works. These are to be added to the industrialization of Russia under a series of "Five-Year Plans," which produced important heavy industry plants in the Donets Basin, in the Urals and in Siberia. Last year, Russia produced 38,000,000 tons of steel, which figures about one-third of American production, but which in war potentials is higher because nothing there need be used for consumers' goods.

While Russia and China are storehouses of mineral wealth, much of them is still unexplored. In the United States, the coal, iron and oil deposits are rapidly being used up; in Soviet Russia, they are hardly being used at all. In fact, little is known accurately of the quantity and quality of the Russian mineral potential.

Russia employs both a free and a slave labor force. The free labor force, consisting of men, women and children, works a 48-hour week and is given Stakhanovist prizes for labor productivity on a basis which in the United States would be regarded as brutal.

The Communist form of government tends toward a bureaucratic despotism, which is not unlike old Russia. It differs from Czarist Russia in that officials come from the people, rising through various grades of the Communist Party and the official bureaucracy.

Public opinion is controlled by the Communist Party. No divergence of opinion is permitted. Such a dissent, for instance, as Senator Wayne Morse's would not be tolerated. He would either be imprisoned, sent to a slave labor camp or killed. No opposition party exists.

Nevertheless, actions recently taken by the Russian government would indicate that party representatives and the secret police have reported a mass discontent following the death of Stalin. The nature of this dissent, whether it is within the Communist Party or outside it, is not known in this country.

It is important to note that the Russian people accepted oppression for a period of about 600 years, with a few unsuccessful revolutions, until 1917. This is a prolonged period for any European people to submit to autocracy and some form of slavery. The submissiveness of the Russian people to despotism must not be overlooked in any appraisal of their character.

The present Russian government is apparently continuing a policy of imperialism in the form of world revolution based on Marxism. All imperial states, throughout history, have employed offensive wars as a weapon of policy. Diplomatically, they have used the device of weakening or destroying all unions of power aimed against them. In this sense, Russia adheres to the historic pattern.

As an enemy, Soviet Russia is formidable and has this advantage: in war, it can act speedily, without consulting any parliamentary body and without any consideration for the wishes of its people. In a period of air-atomic warfare, this gives Russia the initiative against the free countries.

CURING CRIMINALLY INSANE

Several years ago when Drs. Freeman and Watts first reported the results of the operation known as frontal lobotomy; this cutting of the nerves supplying the front lobes of the brain was done to give patients relief from terrible grief and depression. These patients were naturally greatly relieved, as were their families, when they were freed from this intense suffering. As all other forms of treatment had failed, the fact that the operation left these patients like irresponsible children was not considered as important as losing their symptoms of grief and depression.

When other surgeons, and also Drs. Freeman and Watts, again performed this operation, frontal lobotomy, it was found that some of the patients not only were free from grief and depression but were restored to being mentally normal.

One of the great problems in mental ailments is that of the criminally insane. It is then of great interest to the community to find that some of these insane criminals are being helped by this prefrontal lobotomy operation.

In Nordick Medicine, Stockholm, Dr. E. J. Linneman describes the cases of six criminal psychopaths (patients with mental disease) three men and three women with "explosive" outbursts of emotion in whom the nerves supplying the two front lobes of the brain were cut. A connection was believed to exist between their "explosivity," and criminality." The prefrontal operation was considered after all other medical and psychiatric treatment was without avail.

After the operation, the patients were definitely subdued in their affective reactions. This quieting effect upon these insane criminals with explosive reactions was certainly a great boon to the patients and to their nurses and attendants. However, after the operation it was found that two of the six patients were restored to their best or normal selves, that is completely rehabilitated without signs of criminality for several years and a third patient will probably be rehabilitated. One patient relapsed into criminality. The fate of the two remaining patients, not yet discharged, is uncertain.

I believe we will all agree that this transforming of two or possibly three criminally insane patients into rehabilitated individuals is a great advance in the treatment of this type of patient.

No one can forsee the effect of a single advance in the treatment of apparently hopeless cases. For example, Drs. Banting and Best in the discovery of insulin to control diabetes and of Drs. Minot and Murphy in their discovery that liver and liver extract could control pernicious anemia — formerly fatal diseases.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Proposals to change the public land laws of the United States to put more of the 457 million acres under state control and private ownership have drawn fire from a number of sources, in and out of government.

One of the stoutest defenders of the present public lands administration is Robert W. Sawyer, editor of the Bend (Ore.) Bulletin and a former president of the National Reclamation Association. Mr. Sawyer has fought vigorously against the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation and some of its water and public power policies. But on public land policy he takes another tack.

When the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, through its past president, Laurence F. Lee, launched its crusade for revision of the land laws, Mr. Sawyer charged that the whole story was not being told. He answered Mr. Lee's article in American Forests Magazine with an article of his own.

"There are millions of acres in the 24 per cent (of U. S. land owned by the federal government) that no one would ever want or be willing to own and pay taxes on. There is no tax loss on these lands," he declared.

"Millions of acres of lands that were once federal went into the hands of citizens," Mr. Sawyer continued. "After being raped of their timber, they went back to the 'federal empire' on the solicitation, not of a federal bureau, but on that of their private owners.

"Many other thousands of acres left government ownership, went first on the tax roll and then went tax delinquent. Now they are owned by the counties where they are a headache for the assessors and a sorrow to the conservationists. They ought to be returned to the public domain."

Schools and Roads Get Share of Income

Federal lands not on the tax rolls do bring other benefits to the states in such things as extra highway construction subsidies. One fourth of the annual income from national forests must be paid to the states for the benefit of schools and roads.

Citing Oregon figures as an example, Mr. Sawyer points out that his state has received payments of over $40 million in the last five years, in lieu of taxes and more than taxes would have been if the states had held the land.

Hugh B. Woodward, president of the New Mexico Game Protective Association, came to Washington recently for a speech before the North American Wildlife Conference, in which he cut loose against the drive to put public lands under state control.

Citing the history of the west, Mr. Woodward recalled the many years in which the livestock men fought the homesteaders in the grazing rights wars. This war still goes on.

"It is the Forest Service lands for which private interests presently grasp," Mr. Woodward declared. "The larger livestock operators who graze their animals upon the national forests are the group most militant in their demands, although in some states timber interests cast covetous eyes upon lumber resources."

Raising Rates Would Double Receipts

More important than grazing privileges, timber cutting, recreation or wildlife protection "is the necessity of protecting our high water-yielding areas in the national forests, to assure the teeming millions who live below in the valleys of their water supply," says Mr. Woodward.

"In the southwestern states, water tables have been and are falling without exception . . . Only by the most conservative and careful control of our watershed areas can we hope to maintain and advance the agricultural and economic life of the west.

"The history of private ownership of forests in the United States has been, generally speaking, a tale of exploitation and destruction. Limited numbers of major corporations have learned to operate their timber as a crop and not as a mine. But only a few private owners have either the financial resources, the foresight or the will to permit such a system of management."

Summing up the situation for the whole United States, the Bureau of Land Management in the Department of Interior reported last year that the public lands paid into the U. S. Treasury $64 million receipts. From mineral rights receipts came to $52 million, from timber rights $10 million, from grazing permits $2 million.

This was $5 for every dollar of expense. By intelligent management, by raising the rates for services rendered instead of giving these rights away, it was said these revenues could be doubled.

Senator McCarthy Is Viewed as Having Gained Through Attacks by 'Daily Worker'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 27—Examination of recent issues of "The Daily Worker," the organ of the Communists in the United States, reveals that the drive against Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin has taken on renewed vigor.

Not only did "The Daily Worker" originally coin the word "McCarthyism" but it now uses the word "McCarthyites" to describe all persons who are against Communist activities in America or Communist policies abroad.

Even the appointment of a chairman of the Board of Education in New York city, who would be expected to make short shrift of Communist agents among teachers in the schools, is described in a May 20 headline thus: "McCarthyite Heads Board of Higher Education."

Since "The Daily Worker" is an instrutcion sheet to all Communists in America — guiding them as to what line to take from day to day in their efforts to influence schools, colleges, churchmen, newspaper men, radio commentators, movie actors and producers and anybody else who can radiate influence to millions of people—the following headline in the May 25 issue is significant:

"How to Turn Anger at McCarthy Into a Struggle to Stop Him."

Then follows this comment:

"Throughout the United States today, resistance to McCarthyism is on the upsurge. Individuals and organizations who yesterday looked the other way while the senator from Wisconsin blew one prop after another from under the Bill of Rights are emerging from their neutral corners.

"Among the most recent to join the good fight against McCarthyism are the National Council of Churches in the U. S. A., the Commission of Justice and Peace of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, two hundred members of Princeton's University's faculty, the National Education Association, Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, Amherst Alumni Association of Washington . . .

"Those who, under McCarthyism fire, couple their disavowal of pro-communism with an accommodating attack on the Communist Party are strengthening McCarthy's big lie. McCarthyism's stock in trade is the lie that communism is an imminent and mortal threat to the country."

Still another headline, this one on Monday, May 25, reads: "Call for Big Four Parley; Fight Back on McCarthyism." Then the main dispatch, displayed across the front page, tells about the three-day convention in Washington of the Americans for Democratic Action, which called for a fight on McCarthyism.

With praise for Harvard University, the "Daily Worker" says in its May 21 issue:

"The refusal of Harvard University to 'play ball' with the democracy-killing goons of the Velde-Jenner-McCarthy Committees by firing three faculty members crucified by the witchhunters is an encouraging sign."

The "Daily Worker," moreover, attributes to McCarthy everything that the Eisenhower administration does—a technique that is being followed by many other persons who are trying to exaggerate "McCarthyism" as an issue. The "Daily Worker" says:

"This McCarthyite dictum on when and under what conditions the Eisenhower administration will condescend to talk with Soviet leaders cannot but give fresh alarm to the peoples of the world, especially the people of the United States."

Column upon column of tirades against McCarthy appears in the "Daily Worker," with a considerable amount of space playing up as worthy of admiration every attack against the Wisconsin senator.

Just why is the Communist organ so concerned about the senator and just why is it emphasizing "McCarthyism" in every day's issue? It must be that the Communists recognize that, if they can discredit or destroy McCarthy's crusade, they will also have bottled up every other congressional activity that tends to discredit what the Communists are doing.

Already the Communists have their knives sharpened against the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Once they can feel sure congressional inquiries are at an end, they will go after the FBI. In fact, they frequently now denounce J. Edgar Hoover and they are particularly annoyed with the work of his bureau in exposing and helping to convict the Rosenbergs. "They must not die," cries the "Daily Worker," as it appeals for the lives of the Rosenbergs. They call it all a "McCarthy frameup."

Considering the fury of the "Daily Worker," the anti-Communist crusade in America must be making progress.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Having condemned the greedy executive pension racket, the stock-option racket and other grabs of money which should belong to the individual owners of corporation stocks, I believe I owe it to the readers of these essays to put before them the arguments of those who favor this business.

Accordingly, I quote from some letters, starting with one from an authority in Pittsburgh, whose business is devising pension and profit-sharing plans. So we are giving the other side the benefit of expert presentation.

"I feel you have the wrong picture in connection with pensions provided for executives," he tells me. "Because of taxes it is impossible for employers to accumulate sufficient funds for themselves for their older ages. There isn't enough money left after taxes. Consequently, these people must have something done for them by their employers. Otherwise they will go into business for themselves.

"It has been increasingly difficult for business to secure the services of the proper type of men to head their organizations because of these heavy taxes.

"About the only way a good man can be attracted to head a big organization is for the employer to arrange 'deferred compensation' in some manner. Otherwise, these men will organize their own companies, expand their businesses by plowing back profits into the company, then sell out, taking the capital gains tax in their stride, but having the balance for themselves.

"A few years ago, Jones and Laughlin Steel needed a new president. After months of study, they decided on Admiral Ben Moreell. They succeeded in getting him to leave the navy and take the job. But he wouldn't come until J & L had agreed to a salary of $125,000 until age 65; then $50,000 annually after that.

"It was a good move for Jones and Laughlin. Great improvements have been made since his accession to the presidency. Now he is chairman of the board with a newer and younger man installed as president."

So it comes to this, that high taxes are okay for the faceless stockholder, but that this same wretched and put-upon fall-guy must give up the fair earnings of his invested savings to ease the tax burdens of high salaried men who otherwise might sulk and start their own peanut stands.

If the facts of Moreell's case are truly stated, they show him to be a shrewd bargainer. He went to this company on his retirement from the navy in 1947. With a modest navy pension already running for him, he made a deal which, after only 10 years' service, will yield him $50,000 a year for the rest of his life.

This case is a little different however, from the familiar situation in which executives already employed by a company rig up deals for themselves in magnificent self-appreciation on the pretense that if Company A doesn't dump the load of these executives income taxes onto the little people, Company B will eagerly do so. The simple remedy for this is to block this tax-dodge.

Here now is a brash young fellow, drawing $11,000 a year at the age of 33 who qualifies for an executive pension with U. S. Steel and why not he asks?

"Really believe U. S. Steel would pay me $22,000 a year if I would receive same at the end of the year. But then, you and I both know that with our present tax structure, the take home pay from such a salary would be a pittance so why should we take it away from the stockholders and give it to the government? Believe me, from what I've seen these hard-working (repeat, hard-working) gentlemen (the executives) are worth every penny they are paid and possibly the only thing they have left after taxes is the executive pension."

W. H. Helmerich, III, vice-president of the White Eagle Oil Company, of Tulsa, asked for facilities to present an argument on behalf of P. C. Spencer, president of Sinclair Oil, whose case, taken at random, had been cited in an earlier piece, and "hundreds of oil companies, like ourselves, who have pension and retirement programs for loyal and trustworthy employes."

This letter runs into extra innings but, in brief, Mr. Helmerich says Mr. Spencer took charge at Sinclair when the company "was in dire need of unified management and progressive thinking."

Shokan

Shokan, May 26—Callers here Saturday included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Greenfield and children. The Greenfields for many years have maintained a summer residence on the one-time Sherman place near the Bushkill in Watson Hollow.

Also calling in the village center Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Lagotta, Nyack couple who have a summer place up the brook from the Traver Hollow bridge. Tony says there are old fashioned brookies, up in the hollow, as well as the browns and other fish which swim up from the Ashokan west basin.

Harold Carlson, local KHS student, was kept from his studies and the May Day ceremonies last week by a throat affection.

Thor Kroh who has employment at Electrol is improving the grounds around his home on the Valdmar Christensen place here.

Among the several wedding anniversaries falling June 1 is that of George and Maggie (Greene) Giles, old residents of the church hill neighborhood of Shokan. The couple have a daughter, Izora (Mrs. Philip) Chopay of Springfield, L. I., and a grandson, George Chopay, who for some time has been stationed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kiernan of Phoenicia were callers here Monday while en route to New York to spend the week.

Grover Winchell, South Olive well known fire insurance company director and retired farmer, having read in The Freeman's Woodstock correspondence about the Gus Shultis' goose which died recently at the ripe old age of 18, says his own Toulouse gander is a real old timer in comparison with the late lamented Polly Goose. The Winchell gander, who observed his 25th birthday May 1, remains in good health though his disposition is a bit on the crabbed side. He was hatched under a hen from a goose egg presented by Grover's brother-in-law, Simon Merrihew of Krumville, and since that time the old fellow has 'buried' three devoted wives (at intervals of several years apart, of course), his last consort having passed away nine years ago. The patriarchal gander's owner is inclined to the opinion that his bird has set something of a record for longevity in this county.

Razors are not so efficient in cold weather, according to barbers, who say they will strop better when the temperature is low if dipped first in boiling water.

BIG THREE MEETING

President Eisenhower's action in arranging a Big Three meeting next month with Prime Minister Churchill and the French premier is a stroke of genuine world statesmanship.

It is the President's way of reaffirming the basic solidarity of the major western powers at a time when carping critics on both sides of the Atlantic have seemed to stress the differences rather than the common viewpoints among them.

It is Mr. Eisenhower's recognition that the West cannot afford to have these differences enlarged upon, that the sensible thing for strong-willed friends to do is get together and try to iron out difficulties.

Moreover, it represents a decision by the President to test for the first time in several years the usefulness of the three- or four-way parley of heads of state as a technique of international policy-making.

As Mr. Eisenhower's advisers stressed, the calling of the Big Three meeting in no way constitutes a commitment to sit down later with the Russians in a Big Four conference. Presumably the President still insists that Soviet good faith, evidenced by deeds, be a prelude to any high-level conclave involving the Kremlin.

A satisfactory Korean truce certainly is one such deed. If it is arrived at in the next few weeks, and the way thus partly opened to negotiation of broader East-West issues, then the Big Three will have plenty to talk about in Bermuda.

First and foremost, they will need to find some kind of common ground on which to stand in a political conference affecting Far Eastern questions. Strange as it may seem, the West appears to have attained utterly no agreement up to now on what terms they should seek from the Communist world.

Next, they will have to develop a consistent western posture on matters concerned with the future of Europe. What are their terms for a unified Germany? Will they insist that an Austrian treaty be concluded before action on Germany is countenanced? In a conference with the Soviet Union, would they declare their resolve to go on building up the West against the Russian threat of aggression?

Even if the truce talks still are deadlocked, the Bermuda conversations should be fruitful. The leading topics then will be how to gain peace in Korea and Indo-China, as a preliminary to wider settlements. Truce or no, it surely seems wise to define without further delay the West's political goals in those countries and with respect to Red China.

It is amazing that calls for high-level East-West talks could find such ready ears in some important western quarters, when it is realized how ill-prepared the West is for effective negotiating. Agreement on terms is long overdue.

Mr. Eisenhower appears to have sensed keenly this necessity as a vital prerequisite to any future East-West gathering. If this need can be even partly filled at Bermuda, it will blend well with the President's fundamental purpose of renewing and fortifying the common understandings among Britain, France and the United States.

These patients were naturally greatly relieved, as were their families, when they were freed from this intense suffering. As all other forms of treatment had failed, the fact that the operation left these patients like irresponsible children was not considered as important as losing their symptoms of grief and depression.

When other surgeons, and also Drs. Freeman and Watts, again performed this operation, frontal lobotomy, it was found that some of the patients not only were free from grief and depression but were restored to being mentally normal.

One of the great problems in mental ailments is that of the criminally insane. It is then of great interest to the community to find that some of these insane criminals are being helped by this prefrontal lobotomy operation.

In Nordick Medicine, Stockholm, Dr. E. J. Linneman describes the cases of six criminal psychopaths (patients with mental disease) three men and three women with "explosive" outbursts of emotion in whom the nerves supplying the two front lobes of the brain were cut. A connection was believed to exist between their "explosivity," and criminality." The prefrontal operation was considered after all other medical and psychiatric treatment was without avail.

After the operation, the patients were definitely subdued in their affective reactions. This quieting effect upon these insane criminals with explosive reactions was certainly a great boon to the patients and to their nurses and attendants. However, after the operation it was found that two of the six patients were restored to their best or normal selves, that is completely rehabilitated without signs of criminality for several years and a third patient will probably be rehabilitated. One patient relapsed into criminality. The fate of the two remaining patients, not yet discharged, is uncertain.

I believe we will all agree that this transforming of two or possibly three criminally insane patients into rehabilitated individuals is a great advance in the treatment of this type of patient.

No one can forsee the effect of a single advance in the treatment of apparently hopeless cases. For example, Drs. Banting and Best in the discovery of insulin to control diabetes and of Drs. Minot and Murphy in their discovery that liver and liver extract could control pernicious anemia — formerly fatal diseases.

Neurosis

The number of neurotic patients is increasing tremendously. Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Proposals to change the public land laws of the United States to put more of the 457 million acres under state control and private ownership have drawn fire from a number of sources, in and out of government.

One of the stoutest defenders of the present public lands administration is Robert W. Sawyer, editor of the Bend (Ore.) Bulletin and a former president of the National Reclamation Association. Mr. Sawyer has fought vigorously against the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation and some of its water and public power policies. But on public land policy he takes another tack.

When the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, through its past president, Laurence F. Lee, launched its crusade for revision of the land laws, Mr. Sawyer charged that the whole story was not being told. He answered Mr. Lee's article in American Forests Magazine with an article of his own.

"There are millions of acres in the 24 per cent (of U. S. land owned by the federal government) that no one would ever want or be willing to own and pay taxes on. There is no tax loss on these lands," he declared.

"Millions of acres of lands that were once federal went into the hands of citizens," Mr. Sawyer continued. "After being raped of their timber, they went back to the 'federal empire' on the solicitation, not of a federal bureau, but on that of their private owners.

"Many other thousands of acres left government ownership, went first on the tax roll and then went tax delinquent. Now they are owned by the counties where they are a headache for the assessors and a sorrow to the conservationists. They ought to be returned to the public domain."

Schools and Roads Get Share of Income

Federal lands not on the tax rolls do bring other benefits to the states in such things as extra highway construction subsidies. One fourth of the annual income from national forests must be paid to the states for the benefit of schools and roads.

Citing Oregon figures as an example, Mr. Sawyer points out that his state has received payments of over $40 million in the last five years, in lieu of taxes and more than taxes would have been if the states had held the land.

Hugh B. Woodward, president of the New Mexico Game Protective Association, came to Washington recently for a speech before the North American Wildlife Conference, in which he cut loose against the drive to put public lands under state control.

Citing the history of the west, Mr. Woodward recalled the many years in which the livestock men fought the homesteaders in the grazing rights wars. This war still goes on.

"It is the Forest Service lands for which private interests presently grasp," Mr. Woodward declared. "The larger livestock operators who graze their animals upon the national forests are the group most militant in their demands, although in some states timber interests cast covetous eyes upon lumber resources."

Raising Rates Would Double Receipts

More important than grazing privileges, timber cutting, recreation or wildlife protection "is the necessity of protecting our high water-yielding areas in the national forests, to assure the teeming millions who live below in the valleys of their water supply," says Mr. Woodward.

"In the southwestern states, water tables have been and are falling without exception . . . Only by the most conservative and careful control of our watershed areas can we hope to maintain and advance the agricultural and economic life of the west.

"The history of private ownership of forests in the United States has been, generally speaking, a tale of exploitation and destruction. Limited numbers of major corporations have learned to operate their timber as a crop and not as a mine. But only a few private owners have either the financial resources, the foresight or the will to permit such a system of management."

Summing up the situation for the whole United States, the Bureau of Land Management in the Department of Interior reported last year that the public lands paid into the U. S. Treasury $64 million receipts. From mineral rights receipts came to $52 million, from timber rights $10 million, from grazing permits $2 million.

This was $5 for every dollar of expense. By intelligent management, by raising the rates for services rendered instead of giving these rights away, it was said these revenues could be doubled.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

May 27, 1933 — Mr. and Mrs. John Gaal of Pearl street observed their silver anniversary.

The Kingston Barrel Corp. filed a certificate of incorporation.

Mrs. Christian Ortleib died at her home on New street.

Mrs. Rose Gouverneur Hoes, widow of Chaplain Roswell Randell Hoes, USN, died at Takoma Park, Md.

The Ulster County Red Cross drive was less than $8,000 under its $80,000 goal.

The local draft board was scheduled to induct 26 men into the U. S. Army on June 2.

The local parade committee planned to use only three cars in the Memorial Day parade because of the gas shortage.

Shokan

Shokan, May 26—Callers here Saturday included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Greenfield and children. The Greenfields for many years have maintained a summer residence on the one-time Sherman place near the Bushkill in Watson Hollow.

Also calling in the village center Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Lagotta, Nyack couple who have a summer place up the brook from the Traver Hollow bridge. Tony says there are old fashioned brookies, up in the hollow, as well as the browns and other fish which swim up from the Ashokan west basin.

Harold Carlson, local KHS student, was kept from his studies and the May Day ceremonies last week by a throat affection.

Thor Kroh who has employment at Electrol is improving the grounds around his home on the Valdmar Christensen place here.

Among the several wedding anniversaries falling June 1 is that of George and Maggie (Greene) Giles, old residents of the church hill neighborhood of Shokan. The couple have a daughter, Izora (Mrs. Philip) Chopay of Springfield, L. I., and a grandson, George Chopay, who for some time has been stationed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kiernan of Phoenicia were callers here Monday while en route to New York to spend the week.

Grover Winchell, South Olive well known fire insurance company director and retired farmer, having read in The Freeman's Woodstock correspondence about the Gus Shultis' goose which died recently at the ripe old age of 18, says his own Toulouse gander is a real old timer in comparison with the late lamented Polly Goose. The Winchell gander, who observed his 25th birthday May 1, remains in good health though his disposition is a bit on the crabbed side. He was hatched under a hen from a goose egg presented by Grover's brother-in-law, Simon Merrihew of Krumville, and since that time the old fellow has 'buried' three devoted wives (at intervals of several years apart, of course), his last consort having passed away nine years ago. The patriarchal gander's owner is inclined to the opinion that his bird has set something of a record for longevity in this county.

Razors are not so efficient in cold weather, according to barbers, who say they will strop better when the temperature is low if dipped first in boiling water.

Senator McCarthy Is Viewed as Having Gained Through Attacks by 'Daily Worker'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 27—Examination of recent issues of "The Daily Worker," the organ of the Communists in the United States, reveals that the drive against Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin has taken on renewed vigor.

Not only did "The Daily Worker" originally coin the word "McCarthyism" but it now uses the word "McCarthyites" to describe all persons who are against Communist activities in America or Communist policies abroad.

Even the appointment of a chairman of the Board of Education in New York city, who would be expected to make short shrift of Communist agents among teachers in the schools, is described in a May 20 headline thus: "McCarthyite Heads Board of Higher Education."

Since "The Daily Worker" is an instrutcion sheet to all Communists in America — guiding them as to what line to take from day to day in their efforts to influence schools, colleges, churchmen, newspaper men, radio commentators, movie actors and producers and anybody else who can radiate influence to millions of people—the following headline in the May 25 issue is significant: "How to Turn Anger at McCarthy Into a Struggle to Stop Him."

Then follows this comment:

"Throughout the United States today, resistance to McCarthyism is on the upsurge. Individuals and organizations who yesterday looked the other way while the senator from Wisconsin blew one prop after another from under the Bill of Rights are emerging from their neutral corners.

"Among the most recent to join the good fight against McCarthyism are the National Council of Churches in the U. S. A., the Commission of Justice and Peace of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, two hundred members of Princeton's University's faculty, the National Education Association, Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, Amherst Alumni Association of Washington . . .

"Those who, under McCarthyism fire, couple their disavowal of pro-communism with an accommodating attack on the Communist Party are strengthening McCarthy's big lie. McCarthyism's stock in trade is the lie that communism is an imminent and mortal threat to the country."

Still another headline, this one on Monday, May 25, reads: "Call for Big Four Parley; Fight Back on McCarthyism." Then the main dispatch, displayed across the front page, tells about the three-day convention in Washington of the Americans for Democratic Action, which called for a fight on McCarthyism.

With praise for Harvard University, the "Daily Worker" says in its May 21 issue:

"The refusal of Harvard University to 'play ball' with the democracy-killing goons of the Velde-Jenner-McCarthy Committees by firing three faculty members crucified by the witchhunters is an encouraging sign."

The "Daily Worker," moreover, attributes to McCarthy everything that the Eisenhower administration does—a technique that is being followed by many other persons who are trying to exaggerate "McCarthyism" as an issue. The "Daily Worker" says:

"This McCarthyite dictum on when and under what conditions the Eisenhower administration will condescend to talk with Soviet leaders cannot but give fresh alarm to the peoples of the world, especially the people of the United States."

Column upon column of tirades against McCarthy appears in the "Daily Worker," with a considerable amount of space playing up as worthy of admiration every attack against the Wisconsin senator.

Just why is the Communist organ so concerned about the senator and just why is it emphasizing "McCarthyism" in every day's issue? It must be that the Communists recognize that, if they can discredit or destroy McCarthy's crusade, they will also have bottled up every other congressional activity that tends to discredit what the Communists are doing.

Already the Communists have their knives sharpened against the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Once they can feel sure congressional inquiries are at an end, they will go after the FBI. In fact, they frequently now denounce J. Edgar Hoover and they are particularly annoyed with the work of his bureau in exposing and helping to convict the Rosenbergs. "They must not die," cries the "Daily Worker," as it appeals for the lives of the Rosenbergs. They call it all a "McCarthy frameup."

Considering the fury of the "Daily Worker," the anti-Communist crusade in America must be making progress.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Having condemned the greedy executive pension racket, the stock-option racket and other grabs of money which should belong to the individual owners of corporation stocks, I believe I owe it to the readers of these essays to put before them the arguments of those who favor this business.

Accordingly, I quote from some letters, starting with one from an authority in Pittsburgh, whose business is devising pension and profit-sharing plans. So we are giving the other side the benefit of expert presentation.

"I feel you have the wrong picture in connection with pensions provided for executives," he tells me. "Because of taxes it is impossible for employers to accumulate sufficient funds for themselves for their older ages. There isn't enough money left after taxes. Consequently, these people must have something done for them by their employers. Otherwise they will go into business for themselves.

"It has been increasingly difficult for business to secure the services of the proper type of men to head their organizations because of these heavy taxes.

"About the only way a good man can be attracted to head a big organization is for the employer to arrange 'deferred compensation' in some manner. Otherwise, these men will organize their own companies, expand their businesses by plowing back profits into the company, then sell out, taking the capital gains tax in their stride, but having the balance for themselves.

"A few years ago, Jones and Laughlin Steel needed a new president. After months of study, they decided on Admiral Ben Moreell. They succeeded in getting him to leave the navy and take the job. But he wouldn't come until J & L had agreed to a salary of $125,000 until age 65; then $50,000 annually after that.

"It was a good move for Jones and Laughlin. Great improvements have been made since his accession to the presidency. Now he is chairman of the board with a newer and younger man installed as president."

So it comes to this, that high taxes are okay for the faceless stockholder, but that this same wretched and put-upon fall-gu must give up the fair earnings o his invested savings to ease the ta burdens of high salaried men wh otherwise might sulk and star their own peanut stands.

If the facts of Moreell's cas are truly stated, they show him t be a shrewd bargainer. He went t this company on his retiremen from the navy in 1947. With modest navy pension already run ning for him, he made a dea which, after only 10 years' serv ice, will yield him $50,000 a yea for the rest of his life.

This case is a little different however, from the familiar situa tion in which executives alread employed by a company rig u deals for themselves in magnifi cent self-appreciation on the pre tense that if Company A doesn dump the load of these executives income taxes onto the little peo ple, Company B will eagerly do so The simple remedy for this is t block this tax-dodge.

Here now is a brash young fel low, drawing $11,000 a year at th age of 33 who qualifies for a executive pension with U. S. Steel and why not he asks?

"Really believe U. S. Stee would pay me $22,000 a year if would receive same at the end o the year. But then, you and I both know that with our present ta structure, the take home pay from such a salary would be a pittance so why should we take it away from the stockholders and give it to the government? Believe me, from what I've seen these hard-working (repeat, hard-working) gentlemen (the executives) are worth every penny they are paid and possibly the only thing they have left after taxes is the executive pension."

W. H. Helmerich, III, vice-president of the White Eagle Oi Company, of Tulsa, asked for facilities to present an argument or behalf of P. C. Spencer, president of Sinclair Oil, whose case, taken at random, had been cited in an earlier piece, and "hundreds of oil companies, like ourselves, who have pension and retirement programs for loyal and trustworthy employes."

This letter runs into extra innings but, in brief, Mr. Helmerich says Mr. Spencer took charge at Sinclair when the company "was in dire need of unified management and progressive thinking."

Craig Appointed Sprague Electric Kingston Manager

EDWARD C. CRAIG

Edward C. Craig recently resigned from the navy with the rank of captain in order to accept a job with the Sprague Electric Company as plant manager of the Kingston Division, it was announced today from Sprague headquarters in North Adams, Mass.

Craig was born and raised in Tennessee and attended various schools there, including Vanderbilt University, where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He then entered the Naval Academy from which he graduated in 1922, two years after Robert C. Sprague, chairman of the board of the Sprague Electric Company. Craig also attnded MIT for two years as a post graduate student in naval construction. It was there he received his Master's degree.

Craig was with the navy for more than 30 years, his first 15 years including officerships on submarine and battleships in foreign and home waters. He also supervised the construction of destroyers at Bath, Me., was in charge of procurement of machine tools for shipyards on the staff of the secretary of the navy and was instructor at the Naval Academy in metallurgy, thermadynamics, internal combustion engines and related subjects.

Honored by Government

During the next five years, he was assigned to the maintenance and design divisions of the Bureau of Ships and in 1940 went to London as assistant naval attache in connection with the development of defense measures against Germany's new weapons. Returning to Washington, he was put in charge of developing mine counter-measures and the design and construction of mine-sweepers, including the de-gaussing of ships against magnetic mines. He was honored by both the United States and British governments for his accomplishments in this work.

From 1942 to 1944 he was on the staff of the commander, Service Squadrons, South Pacific, and responsible for harbor defenses in this area under Admiral Halsey.

From 1944 to 1948, Craig worked with the yard commander at the Boston Navy Yard in various capacities. He was at different times superintendent of design, production officer, planning officer and industrial engineering officer.

During the next two years he was recalled to the office of the secretary of the navy in Washington in the industrial survey division where he acted as executive officer in charge of industrial surveys.

During the succeeding two years, until last November, he served as commander of the Portsmouth, N. H., Naval Shipyard, engaged in the design and construction of submarines. Captain Craig's duties were both technical and administrative and included public relations.

Sprague Electric Makes Suggestion Awards

Albert Resso, ceramic mixture maker at the Sprague Electric Company, Kingston Division, Cornell street, was awarded $200 at special ceremonies Monday afternoon for a suggestion to improve the quality of the vitreous enamel resistor manufactured at the local plant. Presentation of this award, highest made to a Kingston employe, was made by Edward C. Craig, plant manager. Other awards were presented to Mrs. Edna Burger, and Miss Patricia Carr, for suggestions recently submitted to the suggestion committee. Left to right, Mrs. Burger, Miss Carr, Craig and Resso. (Freeman photo)

More Red Engineers

Hong Kong (AP) — Communist China has 220,000 students in schools of higher education and more than one out of every four is in training in various fields of engineering, says Tseng Chao-lun, vice minister of higher education of the Peiping Red regime. In 1946 engineering students made up 19.8 per cent of the national student body, but now they number 25.4 per cent.

It's Time For Plain Talk And Straight Thinking!

The purchase of automatic heat is one of those once-in-a-lifetime propositions—it represents a large expenditure and you hope you will never have to make the purchase again. Therefore you are interested in two things—reliability and annual operating costs.

Oil Heat has many sources of Supply and methods of transportation and is distributed in the Kingston Area by a large number of local business men*—not by One large company with One source of supply and One vulnerable and limited supply line 1,500 miles long.

In talking about the cost of oil heat, we don't use weasel-words like "it's right in line with other fuel costs" or "it's comparable to other fuel costs". WE SAY EMPHATICALLY AND DEFINITELY THAT OIL HEAT COSTS ARE LESS THAN GAS HEAT COSTS!

It's not only less, in terms of cost of heat units, but we don't necessarily try to sell you a several hundred dollar insulation or storm window job in an effort to lower a top fuel cost.

You Can't Beat OIL HEAT

It's Time For Plain Talk And Straight Thinking!

The purchase of automatic heat is one of those once-in-a-life-time propositions—it represents a large expenditure and you hope you will never have to make the purchase again. Therefore you are interested in two things—reliability and annual operating costs.

Oil Heat has many sources of Supply and methods of transportation and is distributed in the Kingston Area by a large number of local business men*—not by One large company with One source of supply and One vulnerable and limited supply line 1,500 miles long.

In talking about the cost of oil heat, we don't use weasel-words like "it's right in line with other fuel costs" or "it's comparable to other fuel costs". WE SAY EMPHATICALLY AND DEFINITELY THAT OIL HEAT COSTS ARE LESS THAN GAS HEAT COSTS!

It's not only less, in terms of cost of heat units, but we don't necessarily try to sell you a several hundred dollar insulation or storm window job in an effort to lower a top fuel cost.

You Can't Beat OIL HEAT

Shrink-Proof Wool

New York (AP) — Shrink-proof wool has been developed by an Australian research group, the Australian Information Service here says. At least one license to a woolen mill has been granted. The process will be developed in other commercial plants, the announcement says. The new process treats the wool with a resin, but the Australians say that it does not change the normal qualities of the wool.

Stone Ridge

Stone Ridge, May 27—The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary of the Town of Marbletown Post 1512 was held in the parish hall of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Stone Ridge, Thursday evening. Mrs. Isaac Graham, president, presided. Mrs. Joseph Greenburg, poppy chairman, announced the winners in the recent poppy poster contest. They are for Class 1—first prize, John VanDemark; second, Eddie Pope; third, Robert Larsen. Curtis Goins and Howard Larsen received honorable mention. Winners in Class 2—first, Luella Goins; second, Robert Andersen; third, Donna Homfeld. The winning posters have been sent on to compete for county and state prizes. The others are displayed in local business places to help bring to the public the need for funds obtained by the annual poppy drive. Money raised by this drive is used only for child welfare and rehabilitation work for veterans' families many of which are in the local community. Some of it goes for hospital work in the various veterans hospitals of the state.

Barbara Jean Miller of Lomontville has been selected by the high school authorities as the outstanding junior from the town of Marbletown and will have the opportunity to attend Girls' State in Saratoga the last of June. Last year the unit sent Shirley Pratt of Stone Ridge. This is an unusual opportunity for girls to learn first hand just how a democracy works. They go through all the processes of nominations, campaigns, elections, inaugurations, etc., of state officials even to the going to Albany for the inauguration of their governor. The auxiliary is cooperating with the Legion in its memorial services Saturday. They will place a wreath on the honor roll in High Falls at 9 a. m. and then proceed to the Stone Ridge honor roll to place a wreath there. From there they go to the Marbletown Central School for exercises. The winning essay in the recent Americanism contest will be read.

On Friday at 2 p. m. the auxiliary will present each child in school with a leaflet giving the history and correct usage of the flag.

Mrs. Isaac Graham and Mrs. Frank Altiri attended the Third District Conference in Hudson on Saturday. The county meeting of the auxiliary will be held in the Methodist Church in Woodstock Thursday evening, May 28.

Each child born in Hungary receives an official number, which is entered on all official documents referring to him, from birth certificate onward.

Ulster Park

Ulster Park, May 27—Reformed Church, the Rev. Harry E. Christiana, pastor—Sunday school at 11 a. m. services at 9:45 a. m. At the Sunday school session on May 24 a special service was held in commemoration of Pentecost Sunday. Colleen Craig sang a solo and a birthday cake, donated by Mrs. Milton Tsitsera, was served.

The annual strawberry social, cafeteria supper and sale sponsored by the Women's League for Service will be held on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ward Saturday evening, June 13.

The auction conducted by Ulster Grange last Thursday evening was well attended. Mrs. Hilda Hopkins, lecturer of the Grange, acted as auctioneer.

A square dance under the auspicies of the youth committee of the grange will be held in the hall Saturday evening, May 30.

Mrs. R. C. Gendreau and Harold Story attended the funeral of their cousin Howard Van Wagenen in Newburgh last Tuesday.

Mrs. Alice Tinnie, town clerk, calls attention to the large number of unlicensed dogs in the Town of Esopus and requests owners to procure licenses from her office in Port Ewen.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gendreau attended the wedding of Miss Suzanne Lattiman and Earl Hazelkamp in the Episcopal Church, Wappingers Falls, Sunday afternoon. A reception followed at the home of the bride, Memory Inn, on Route 9.

Reds Try "Incentives"

Maizuru, Japan (AP) — Japanese repatriates from Communist China say the Reds have borrowed an incentive system from the Russians to speed up production. The wages are convertible either into cash or tickets for various incentive commodities. All workers put in an eight-hour day on a five and a half day work-week. One repatriate said he worked on a salary basis on a dairy farm and received $20 a month. A week's wages, he said, would buy a thin cotton tunic lightly filled with cotton batting and thin cotton pants.

Puts On Blue Bonnet To Get Most For The Money!

MRS. JAN PEERCE

You, too, will love BLUE BONNET Margarine's delicate, sunny-sweet flavor! BLUE BONNET makes bread, toast, hot rolls, and vegetables taste better than ever!

You'll appreciate BLUE BONNET's nutrition. Unlike most other margarines, BLUE BONNET contains both Vitamins A and D—as much year-round Vitamin A and D as you get in the high-priced spread for bread!

Yet BLUE BONNET Margarine costs less than half as much as the high-priced spread. So put on BLUE BONNET and be sure of "all 3"—Flavor, Nutrition, Econom-e-e!

What Will They Be Wearing in 1958?

That's really hard to say! It's a mystery where women's styles come from, anyhow. So whether madam's frock a la 1958 will be tight or tubular, full or bell-shaped, off-center or bustle type, is anybody's guess.

But it's no mystery what she expects her electric service to be in 1958. Judging by past experience, she will use about half again as much electricity in her home in 1958 as she uses today—close to 3000 units as against today's 2000 average home use.

Women, everywhere, have found that the wide use of electricity means better living in terms of easier housework, shorter housework hours, added comforts and conveniences. And for the future the predictions are fantastic and exciting!

The nation's electric light and power companies . . . companies like Central Hudson . . . have already planned for 1958 — and beyond. They accept this as their responsibility. And their record of past achievement shows they have measured up to their responsibilities. Their plans for the future indicate even greater accomplishments.

NOW, THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that, in pursuance of the powers vested in me by law, I shall, on Tuesday, the 16th day of June, 1953, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon at the Court House in the City of Kingston, commence, selling at public auction, so much of each of the said several and respective lots, tracts, pieces or parcels of land, as shall be sufficient to pay all State, County, Highway, School or other taxes assessed thereon in the year 1951, that may then remain due on each thereof, respectively, together with the interest, costs and charges, which have arisen or accrued or that may arise or accrue thereon, and shall sell, and continue from day to day to sell, until the said sale shall be completed. The purchasers at such sale shall pay the amount of their respective bids to the County Treasurer within forty-eight hours after the last day of the sale, and receive certificates describing the lands purchased, the sums paid, and the time when the purchasers will be entitled to deeds; and stating that if the lands therein described are not redeemed, they may either complete their purchase and take a conveyance of the lands as provided in the tax law, or at their option, foreclose their lien pursuant to Article 7-A of said law. All sales will be subject to the provisions of the Federal and State Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Acts.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Mrs. Bernard Chambers of Chapel street brought an interesting "special edition" of The Kingston Freeman put out in 1898. I did not have a chance to read any of the items, but there were pictures of gone but not forgotten Kingston Point Park. Also various business houses and merchants illustrated throughout the small special edition on glossy paper. Perhaps other folks remember this copy. I saw Weber's butcher store, corner of Abeel street and Broadway, which was right opposite to my late father's drug store at 46 Broadway, so I knew the butcher store well in later years. That is where I used to go and point to the best cuts, while Mr. Weber, Sr., stood with a big knife and would slice a big chunk of meat which I usually asked him to grind for chop meat. He never threw in any suet in the machine, it was all good red meat. Let no one tell you cannot make good juicy tender meat balls or hamburg from such meat. In those days, I used to mix a slice of wet bread with an egg and sometimes a fine chopped onion with the chopped meat. Then roll the hamburgs in bread crumbs and fry in vegetable shortening. That with a green salad of cucumbers, green scallions and lettuce, mixed with vinegar, salt and sugar was the way my father liked it.

This column sometimes brings strange response. I take it the following is from a reader of this column who has never visited Kingston. Henry M. Coffey of 1850 Ocean avenue, Brooklyn, writes in part: "I buy out of town newspapers at 42nd street and Broadway quite frequently and occasionally I read The Freeman and enjoy your articles. As you folks celebrated the 300th Anniversary of Kingston, I am wondering about how old a newspaper The Freeman happens to be, also is it older than The Leader which was printed in your city for many years." On second though perhaps he does know more about Kingston than I first surmised. He further writes, "I am aware of a neighboring community in your Catskill section known as Stamford or is it Stanford. A village which should be in either Ulster, Delaware or Green counties, but I am at a loss to know just which county. I would be pleased to receive information relative to the above, and I extend my thanks in advance for your assistance." I remember a Stamford, New York, it was way up somewhere out of Ulster county. They had a beauty contest there at Rexmere Pool part of the Rexmere Hall hotel property. All I remember, it was the most beautiful village, the green lawns were expansive no matter where you looked, and every lawn, house and hotel as neat as a brand new village. It just did not seem real to me. Besides it was a beautiful day in summer when everything seems to look mightly nice.

Years ago I wrote a manuscript called "Millie's and Billie's Trip to the Catskills in which I tried to incorporate all I knew about the history of this locality even a list of old or first newspapers of Kingston and Ulster county. From my list I see The Rondout Freeman published by Bradbury & Wells in 1845, then in 1858 The Rondout Freeman by William Van Keuren, then by Van Keuren & Gildersleeve, by Gildersleeve alone until 1865, then by Horatio Fowks. I do not have a complete list of newspapers and my list stops at 1859.

Holstein Club Urges Milk Advertising

The May meeting of the Ulster, Sullivan and Orange Holstein Club was held recently in the Brick Reformed Church, Montgomery, at which time a resoluton was passed urging all members to join either ADA or Milk for Health.

Such membership would mean that each dairyman would give two cents per hundredweight of milk toward advertising, it was reported. It was felt that the best way to attain a more favorable price for milk was to sell more fluid milk by stepping up the advertising campaign.

The Black and White show will be held July 25 for which Clarence Slack of Fort Edwards, well-known in Holstein circles, will be the judge. A field trip to Beemerville Experimental Station in New Jersey has been scheduled for August 4, 5 and 6 with Robert Kelder in charge.

Upkeep of Memorial Discussed at Meeting

Woodstock, May 27—Six representatives of various organizations in the village attended the annual meeting of the Woodstock War Memorial Association Monday night at the town hall. An appeal by letter had been made by Mrs. Joseph Marr, secretary, for funds to help in financing the upkeep of the memorial on the village green. It will also be necessary to add more names on a new bronze placque. Mrs. Kathryn Van Ness, president, conducted the meeting.

It was suggested by the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, in connection with the proposed bronze placque, that the organization wait until the conclusion of the Korean conflict to inscribe names on the memorial. Mr. Todd has also completed arrangements for the purchase of a new flag for the village green. Contributions for the flag had been received from Gabriel Peyre and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Terms of three trustees have expired this year, as of May 30. They are Julia Leaycraft, Mrs. Marjory Harder and Mrs. Margaret R. Kenyon. The following were nominated to succeed them: Mrs. Clarence Snyder, Albert Holumzer and Richard E. Thibaut, Jr., for a term of three years. The other trustees who will continue to serve are Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, Mrs. Grant Elwyn, Mrs. Eric Lindin, Tomas Penning and Montcena DeWitt.

Churches Will Join In Service Sunday

Woodstock, May 27—There will be union service at the Dutch Reformed Church Sunday at 10:45 a. m. Other churches who will join in the service are the Lutheran and Methodist Churches of this parish. The speaker will be Wendell Phillips of Port Jervis, a local business man there who has made a study of Dutch Reformed Church work in other lands.

Memorial Committee Asks Cooperation

Woodstock, May 27—The committee for the Memorial Day ceremonies in this village on Saturday, May 30, has again requested the participation of all organizations. They would like to include all veterans regardless of whether or not they are members of the local American Legion Post 1026, as well as any enlisted men and officers who are home on leave and Korean veterans.

Programs for the ceremonies will be available later in the week. It has also been announced that Gladys Tandler will be the soloist at the service.

NOW, THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that, in pursuance of the powers vested in me by law, I shall, on Tuesday, the 16th day of June, 1953, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon at the Court House in the City of Kingston, commence, selling at public auction, so much of each of the said several and respective lots, tracts, pieces or parcels of land, as shall be sufficient to pay all State, County, Highway, School or other taxes assessed thereon in the year 1951, that may then remain due on each thereof, respectively, together with the interest, costs and charges, which have arisen or accrued or that may arise or accrue thereon, and shall sell, and continue from day to day to sell, until the said sale shall be completed. The purchasers at such sale shall pay the amount of their respective bids to the County Treasurer within forty-eight hours after the last day of the sale, and receive certificates describing the lands purchased, the sums paid, and the time when the purchasers will be entitled to deeds; and stating that if the lands therein described are not redeemed, they may either complete their purchase and take a conveyance of the lands as provided in the tax law, or at their option, foreclose their lien pursuant to Article 7-A of said law. All sales will be subject to the provisions of the Federal and State Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Acts.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Mrs. Bernard Chambers of Chapel street brought an interesting "special edition" of The Kingston Freeman put out in 1898. I did not have a chance to read any of the items, but there were pictures of gone but not forgotten Kingston Point Park. Also various business houses and merchants illustrated throughout the small special edition on glossy paper. Perhaps other folks remember this copy. I saw Weber's butcher store, corner of Abeel street and Broadway, which was right opposite to my late father's drug store at 46 Broadway, so I knew the butcher store well in later years. That is where I used to go and point to the best cuts, while Mr. Weber, Sr., stood with a big knife and would slice a big chunk of meat which I usually asked him to grind for chop meat. He never threw in any suet in the machine, it was all good red meat. Let no one tell you cannot make good juicy tender meat balls or hamburg from such meat. In those days, I used to mix a slice of wet bread with an egg and sometimes a fine chopped onion with the chopped meat. Then roll the hamburgs in bread crumbs and fry in vegetable shortening. That with a green salad of cucumbers, green scallions and lettuce, mixed with vinegar, salt and sugar was the way my father liked it.

This column sometimes brings strange response. I take it the following is from a reader of this column who has never visited Kingston. Henry M. Coffey of 1850 Ocean avenue, Brooklyn, writes in part: "I buy out of town newspapers at 42nd street and Broadway quite frequently and occasionally I read The Freeman and enjoy your articles. As you folks celebrated the 300th Anniversary of Kingston, I am wondering about how old a newspaper The Freeman happens to be, also is it older than The Leader which was printed in your city for many years." On second though perhaps he does know more about Kingston than I first surmised. He further writes, "I am aware of a neighboring community in your Catskill section known as Stamford or is it Stanford. A village which should be in either Ulster, Delaware or Green counties, but I am at a loss to know just which county. I would be pleased to receive information relative to the above, and I extend my thanks in advance for your assistance." I remember a Stamford, New York, it was way up somewhere out of Ulster county. They had a beauty contest there at Rexmere Pool part of the Rexmere Hall hotel property. All I remember, it was the most beautiful village, the green lawns were expansive no matter where you looked, and every lawn, house and hotel as neat as a brand new village. It just did not seem real to me. Besides it was a beautiful day in summer when everything seems to look mightly nice.

Years ago I wrote a manuscript called "Millie's and Billie's Trip to the Catskills in which I tried to incorporate all I knew about the history of this locality even a list of old or first newspapers of Kingston and Ulster county. From my list I see The Rondout Freeman published by Bradbury & Wells in 1845, then in 1858 The Rondout Freeman by William Van Keuren, then by Van Keuren & Gildersleeve, by Gildersleeve alone until 1865, then by Horatio Fowks. I do not have a complete list of newspapers and my list stops at 1859.

Holstein Club Urges Milk Advertising

The May meeting of the Ulster, Sullivan and Orange Holstein Club was held recently in the Brick Reformed Church, Montgomery, at which time a resolution was passed urging all members to join either ADA or Milk for Health.

Such membership would mean that each dairyman would give two cents per hundredweight of milk toward advertising, it was reported. It was felt that the best way to attain a more favorable price for milk was to sell more fluid milk by stepping up the advertising campaign.

The Black and White show will be held July 25 for which Clarence Slack of Fort Edwards, well-known in Holstein circles, will be the judge. A field trip to Beemerville Experimental Station in New Jersey has been scheduled for August 4, 5 and 6 with Robert Kelder in charge.

Upkeep of Memorial Discussed at Meeting

Woodstock, May 27—Six representatives of various organizations in the village attended the annual meeting of the Woodstock War Memorial Association Monday night at the town hall. An appeal by letter had been made by Mrs. Joseph Marr, secretary, for funds to help in financing the upkeep of the memorial on the village green. It will also be necessary to add more names on a new bronze placque. Mrs. Kathryn Van Ness, president, conducted the meeting.

It was suggested by the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, in connection with the proposed bronze placque, that the organization wait until the conclusion of the Korean conflict to inscribe names on the memorial. Mr. Todd has also completed arrangements for the purchase of a new flag for the village green. Contributions for the flag had been received from Gabriel Peyre and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Terms of three trustees have expired this year, as of May 30. They are Julia Leaycraft, Mrs. Marjory Harder and Mrs. Margaret R. Kenyon. The following were nominated to succeed them: Mrs. Clarence Snyder, Albert Holumzer and Richard E. Thibaut, Jr., for a term of three years. The other trustees who will continue to serve are Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, Mrs. Grant Elwyn, Mrs. Eric Lindin, Tomas Penning and Montcena DeWitt.

Churches Will Join In Service Sunday

Woodstock, May 27—There will be union service at the Dutch Reformed Church Sunday at 10:45 a. m. Other churches who will join in the service are the Lutheran and Methodist Churches of this parish. The speaker will be Wendell Phillips of Port Jervis, a local business man there who has made a study of Dutch Reformed Church work in other lands.

Memorial Committee Asks Cooperation

Woodstock, May 27—The committee for the Memorial Day ceremonies in this village on Saturday, May 30, has again requested the participation of all organizations. They would like to include all veterans regardless of whether or not they are members of the local American Legion Post 1026, as well as any enlisted men and officers who are home on leave and Korean veterans.

Programs for the ceremonies will be available later in the week. It has also been announced that Gladys Tandler will be the soloist at the service.

Episcopal Churches Set Memorial Services

The Episcopal Churches in High Falls and Rosendale will hold special Memorial Day services of the Holy Communion as follows: St. John's, High Falls, 8:15; All Saints, Rosendale, 9; St. Peter's, Stone Ridge, 11:15.

At the services, those who have died in the service of their country, and those who are at present serving, will be remembered. Those wishing to have loved ones remembered, or mentioned by name at any of these services, they are requested to give their names in writing to Father Brieant before the service.

The hours of these services have been chosen so as not to conflict with public community Memorial Day exercises.

As Pegler Sees It

having "fallen behind the rest of the major oil companies." Since that time, 1949, the gross income has risen more than 34 per cent and a stockholder who owned 10 shares then has gained $250 in paper profit and paid only 40 cents as his proportion of all Mr. Spencer's compensation.

Coming now to the fact that Spencer draws $150,000 salary, Mr. Helmerich says, "Remember that out of this Mr. Spencer must pay almost $120,000 to the federal government in income taxes. Is take home pay of $30,000 too much for a man who directs a company that produces over 100,000 barrels of oil daily in this country and whose refineries have a capacity of 350,000 barrels daily?"

I am sorry not to have room for the many details which Mr. Helmerich offers in a really ardent argument in support of a favoried position for men of ability in large corporations at the expense of the taxpayers indirectly and generally and of the stockholders directly and particularly.

None of the advocates of this tax-dodge has attempted to justify it on moral grounds and all of them admit that the whole case is a tax-dodge which no other class of citizens can take advantage of. Or, if they deny that it is a tax-dodge, they couch their denials in such bare-faced casuistry that they don't believe their own arguments.

I will close this piece with a quote from Edward F. Hutton, the broker, a fairly corpulent cat himself, who knows many of the executive class and whereof he speaks as well.

"I liked immensely your article, 'Pensions for Executives of Big Corporations'," he writes. "Right as rain, brother, apparently the shareowners have become the forgotten men. This has all come about by the tax route. And the lack of integrity in government is reflected in the operations of corporations, to cut costs and effect charge-offs. The question with every one has been: 'How can I file the proper tax return and still avoid paying unnecessary taxes? Would you in future please refer to stockholders as shareholders?'

"It does bring the people whose risk capital is employed in corporate activities nearer those scenes. They have placed their savings in those corporations for better or worse, a profit or a loss. Today they are the forgotten men."

Episcopal Churches Set Memorial Services

St. John's, High Falls, 8:15; All Saints, Rosendale, 9; St. Peter's, Stone Ridge, 11:15.

At the services, those who have died in the service of their country, and those who are at present serving, will be remembered. Those wishing to have loved ones remembered, or mentioned by name at any of these services, they are requested to give their names in writing to Father Brieant before the service.

The hours of these services have been chosen so as not to conflict with public community Memorial Day exercises.

As Pegler Sees It

having "fallen behind the rest of the major oil companies." Since that time, 1949, the gross income has risen more than 34 per cent and a stockholder who owned 10 shares then has gained $250 in paper profit and paid only 40 cents as his proportion of all Mr. Spencer's compensation.

Coming now to the fact that Spencer draws $150,000 salary, Mr. Helmerich says, "Remember that out of this Mr. Spencer must pay almost $120,000 to the federal government in income taxes. Is take home pay of $30,000 too much for a man who directs a company that produces over 100,000 barrels of oil daily in this country and whose refineries have a capacity of 350,000 barrels daily?"

I am sorry not to have room for the many details which Mr. Helmerich offers in a really ardent argument in support of a favoried position for men of ability in large corporations at the expense of the taxpayers indirectly and generally and of the stockholders directly and particularly.

The Weather

WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 1953

Sun rises at 4:12 a. m.; sun sets at 7:11 p. m., E.S.T.
Weather, cloudy.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 50 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 60 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity—Partly cloudy today, milder than yesterday with afternoon temperatures in the upper 60's. Fair and cool tonight, low in the upper 40's. Thursday fair with temperatures much the same as today, high in the upper 60's.

Eastern New York — Mostly cloudy with highest 50 to 60 today. Fair tonight and Thursday. Low tonight 42 to 48. Continued cool Thursday.

TV Development

New York (AP) — The speed with which coast to coast television has developed is clearly shown by a checkup of the records. On May 1, 1948, only 196 miles of TV circuits were available to connect five cities along the eastern seaboard, including Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington. In the five years since the circuits, which include both coaxial cable and microwave links, have been extended to the west coast, to the north and to the south and to intermediate points so that relay service now is available over 34,000 miles of relays to 87 cities. Before 1953 is out, 13,000 more channel miles will be added.

Now you Know!
The answers to everyday insurance problems
By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: Is it advisable to make plans for adding to Social Security retirement income by purchasing a life income policy from a private insurance company or will the Social Security payments provide a decent income?

ANSWER: It depends of course on your individual needs and on your general financial situation at retirement age, but probably it would be wise to give all the facts to a good life insurance agent and let him help you with your plans.

• If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

The overwhelming swing to Knickerbocker proves
No other beer can match its magnificent flavor!

No matter what beer you buy... what beer you try... KNICKERBOCKER has no equal!

Extra light—frosty-dry—less "filling" too!
Finest beer you ever drank!

The secret behind Knickerbocker's amazing growth is a simple one: It's the most delicious beer you ever tasted! Knickerbocker contains a full measure of all the choicest ingredients that are needed to brew a full-bodied, truly satisfying beer. But Knickerbocker is brewed LIGHT... by its own exclusive brewing process. The full flavor remains, the bulk is gone. So, sparkling-clear Knickerbocker is extra light... frosty-dry... the new modern, low-calory beer that's far less "filling" than beers of the past. Enjoy it today... enjoy it often.

The Weather

WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 1953

Sun rises at 4:12 a. m.; sun sets at 7:11 p. m., E.S.T.
Weather, cloudy.

The Temperature

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity—Partly cloudy today, milder than yesterday with afternoon temperatures in the upper 60's. Fair and cool tonight, low in the upper 40's. Thursday fair with temperatures much the same as today, high in the upper 60's.

TV Development

New York (AP) — The speed with which coast to coast television has developed is clearly shown by a checkup of the records. On May 1, 1948, only 196 miles of TV circuits were available to connect five cities along the eastern seaboard, including Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington. In the five years since the circuits, which include both coaxial cable and microwave links, have been extended to the west coast, to the north and to the south and to intermediate points so that relay service now is available over 34,000 miles of relays to 87 cities. Before 1953 is out, 13,000 more channel miles will be added.
